GOLD STAR MOTHER ACCUSES POLICEMAN

Poor Cat—Pity Her. Luminal for Epilepsy. Ladies Can Fight. Forcing Young Minds.

Current Events

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1924, by Star Company

IN NEVADA, yesterday, they tried the new "lethal death chamber" on a cat. The poor cat hadn't done anything; it was drafted to die, trying out a new fangled method of killing convicted murderers.

TODAY, if the cat experiment is satisfactory, "high civilization" will put a Chinese in the death chamber and kill him with hydrocyanic gas.

While the man dies inside, official witnesses, outside, will peep through a glass window to see how he is getting along. That will be dying in a new way.

Perhaps the Chinese deserved it, but the cat didn't.

THE DAY'S best news tells of a new remedy for epilepsy, a dreadful disease that has cursed some of the finest minds ever born on earth. The remedy comes, like many others, from the extraordinarily useful intelligence of German chemists.

THE NEW remedy, called "Luminal," relieves epilepsy by lowering the nervous pressure. There is no doubt as to its giving extraordinary relief. Whether the relief is permanent has not been proved.

Luminal does not form a habit, or produce evil results that follow excessive use of bromides.

GOOD NEWS also is that General Motors, big automobile making company, broke all records last year selling $698,000,000 worth of cars. Many Americans are getting fresh air, who formerly didn't get it, plus the health that comes from fresh air.

MEN WITH small heads and big necks once offered as their final argument against women suffrage, "If the women vote, let them FIGHT in war, and be brave, as we are." Today's news might satisfy them.

Catherine Richardson, twenty-five years old, public school teacher, heard the screams of two boys who had fallen in the icy waters of the Bronx river. She ran to the river, throwing off hat, coat, shoes, jumped in with the rest of her clothes, swam forty feet, saved one of the boys. The other fought her and drowned. That courage ought to satisfy the thick-necked ones.

FOR SOMETHING even more exciting, consider Mrs. R. W. Clark, fifty-six years old, once Mayor of Palmetto, La. She went with a pistol to argue with Loup Meyers, "prominent merchant," her political enemy, and shot him, two or three times. He shot her dead. Her eighteen-year-old daughter took the gun from her dead mother's hand and also shot Meyers. He was the better shot, and she fell. A bullet entered her hip and came out of her abdomen. Then Mrs. Clark's young son poured a load of birdshot into Mr.

TELLS HOW GUN DUEL BEGAN

Craig Says He Crawled Into Broker Curtis' Home Seeking Rest and Warmth

Gerald B. Craig—modern Raffles—looter of homes of the wealthy—on his death bed in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, today gave the first detailed story of the duel he fought, early Thursday morning, with Lewis F. Curtis, wealthy broker and clubman in the latter's home in Newton.

"I was tired and cold—I saw the couch in the sun parlor of the Curtis home and I just went in and lay down," said the man whose life is fast ebbing away as the result of five bullets fired into his body by Curtis, a crack shot and the clay pigeon champion of America.

Since the duel in the Curtis home yesterday morning, which resulted in Craig's injuries and Curtis being taken to the Newton Hospital, probably fatally injured, with a bullet through his shoulder and back—Craig was the first to talk.

"I was tired and cold—I saw the warmth and comfort of that home as I passed by and went in. I had no intentions of robbing the home," said the dying man.

"I went to sleep—the next thing I knew a man was shaking me. I reached for a chair and then the shooting started.

YEARNED FOR WARMTH.

"I never knew or heard of Curtis before this affair," said Craig.

Apparently he knew death is near, yet he affects a nonchalance that is regarded as remarkable by the police.

"I had been roaming about all day long," he continued. I walked by

SLAYER IS KILLED BY LETHAL GAS

Carson City, Nev., Feb. 8.—Gee Jon, a Chinese tong slayer, was executed by lethal gas in the State Prison here today. He was pronounced dead 6 minutes after the gas was turned into the death chamber.

It was the first lethal gas execution in the history of American prisons.

The execution of Gee Jon was in a little stone building in the prison yard in which a cell had been fitted for the condemned man.

The deadly gas, vaporated from a liquid solution of hydrocyanic acid, was in another air-tight stone compartment, the witnesses viewed the execution through two windows.

A rehearsal of the execution snuffed out the lives of two cats in a time estimated at 15 seconds. The cats died apparently instantly and without pain.

Two men had been doomed to die in this execution, but the State Board of Pardons voted to commute to life imprisonment the sentence of the other condemned man, Thomas Russell, an American-born Mexican convicted of killing his sweetheart, an Indian girl.

In the legal fight to stave off the execution, two appeals were made to the Supreme Court of the United States on the ground that lethal gas was an "unusual and inhuman" form of execution. The Supreme Court refused to hear the petitions.

FILM GIRL STRANGLED TO DEATH

Body of Louise Larson Found Bound to Bedpost in Her Room

New York, Feb. 8.—Found to the posts of her bed and with her mouth gagged, Miss Louise Larson, a twenty-four-year-old motion picture actress, today was found dead in her rooms in a fashionable apartment house in West Seventy-seventh street.

The actress' hands had been "spread-eagled" and tied to the bedposts with a silk thread.

Miss Larson's large Belgian police dog was found lashed to a chair in another room of her apartment.

Other tenants told the police they had heard no noise in the girl's apartment during the night, although her dog ordinarily raised an uproar at the presence of strangers.

The body was discovered by a negro maid who went to the apartment to prepare breakfast for the actress.

Ten minutes after the maid had raised the alarm an automobile load of detectives were at the house with a physician, who pronounced the girl dead.

Police said the murder must have occurred after 3:30 this morning, as the tenant of an adjoining apartment said she had heard Miss Larson's bell rung several times at that hour.

To the girl's query, the caller replied that he was an expressman. The door was opened, the tenant said, and the caller apparently entered. Nothing more was heard.

The body was attired only in a nightgown. The portion of towel about the woman's head had been stuffed into her mouth and it had been fastened to the sides of her head with adhesive tape.

The girl had been strangled to death after she had been attacked, according to the examining physician.

MAGNETIC METHODS FAILED

Attempted to Cure Lowell Asthma Victim by Laying on Hands

There is a man in Salem who claims he can cure diseases by the laying on of hands.

He is Charles S. Dennis, "healer," with offices at No. 81 Washington street in that city.

He is not a registered physician.

According to Mrs. Mabel B. Morgan of No. 88 B street, Lowell, he attempted to cure her of asthma with no success.

She said she paid him $2 a visit for two visits, because he assured her he could cure her.

Dennis advertises himself as "the man with the magnetic hands."

Outside his office is a sign bearing the legend: "Healer Dennis," and ornamented with a painting of two hands.

'CURED' BLIND GIRL

Mrs. Morgan said Dennis showed her a stack of old letters which he claimed were testimonials to past cures.

One letter, Mrs. Morgan quoted him as saying, was from the parents of a girl he had cured of blindness.

Mrs. Morgan said Dennis convinced a neighbor, Mrs. Alice Aldrich, who accompanied her, that he could cure varicose veins with his "magnetic healing" system.

In order to impress his patients, Dennis has hung testimonials on his walls, according to Mrs. Morgan. These include crutches, alleged to have been cast aside by cripples he has cured; a plaster cast or two, and a pair of leg-straightening irons.

Mrs. Morgan said she visited Healer Dennis in company with Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Morgan's daugh-

Second Honeymoon to Be World Tour

Silver Screen Star Will Circle Globe With Her New Husband

CORRINNE GRIFFITH

Star of the silver screen, divorced last October from Webster Campbell, marries Walter Morosco, son of theatrical producer, at Tia Juana. Husband has been movie director in Hollywood and plans to go into business there.

New York, Feb. 8.—Corrine Griffith, Cinema heroine, who was divorced from Webster Campbell not long ago, has been married to Walter Morosco, son of Oliver Morosco. News of the ceremony, which was performed at Tia Junana, reached Broadway today.

Morosco, the theatrical producer, at his office said that he had received a letter from his son several days ago in which he announced his intention to wed Miss Griffith. The pair plan to spend their honeymoon in a trip around the world, the elder Morosco said, after which Walter, who has been a movie director at Hollywood, plans to go into business there.

The new Mrs. Morosco was divorced from Campbell last October in Texas. Previously, they had been described as the happiest married couple in the movies. Campbell today, commenting on the marriage, which he said was a great surprise to him, said he had not been at all happy as Miss Griffith's husband.

Miss Griffith, a former choir singer in a small Texas town, rose suddenly to great prominence on the screen, where she is now considered as one of the leading actresses. Two of her recent pictures are "Black Oxen" and "Six Days."

WOMAN IS TAKEN FOR BOOTLEG AGENT

Social Worker Says She Was Insulted by South Station Officer

A gold star mother faced a patrolman, on trial today charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, in connection with an occurrence at the South Station a week ago, when the woman says she was insulted.

She is Mrs. Wallace M. Leonard of No. 17 Forest street, Newton Highlands, a social worker. Her son, Wallace M. Leonard, Jr., a marine lieutenant, was decorated for gallantry at Chateau Thierry. He died later while an instructor in Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., of pneumonia.

Mrs. Leonard charges that Patrolman Walter C. Illingsworth on duty at the South Station accosted her as she was homeward bound from activities at the Sailors' Haven.

CHARGES INSULT.

Her street wraps had been inadvertently locked in a cabinet and she was wearing a man's coat.

As she hurried for her train she charges the policeman accosted her with:

"What do you mean?"

"Have you got it with you?" she says the officer asked, meaning liquor.

"I am not in that kind of business," she says she answered and attempted to hurry along, but was the Curtis home and the sun parlor looked inviting. The last of the family or the servants were just putting out the lights.

"I decided to go into the place and lay down. I hadn't any idea in the world of stealing anything in that house—I only wanted to enjoy that couch.

"I got into the house—never mind how.

DESCRIBES DUEL.

"I took off my shoes and overcoat and laid down. I was asleep in an instant.

"The next thing I knew a man was shaking me. I reached for a chair on which my hat was laying. The man, whom I now know is Curtis, blazed away at me with a gun I hadn't seen before in his hand.

"I grabbed my revolver and shot at him. There were a lot more shots coming from the gun he held. I don't remember much about it, but I staggered from the house and got on a trolley car—then the cops got me."

"What were you doing with the revolver?" he was asked.

"Don't bother me about that," the dying man said as he turned on his pillow, indicating as best he could that the interview was over as far as he was concerned and that he would talk no further.

BROTHER IS HELD.

New developments in the strange case today were many. Carroll Craig, a brother of the dying burglar, was arrested at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, when he went there to inquire about his brother's condition. He was wearing a suit which was stolen from the home of Edward Ansen, No. 132 Chestwick road, Brighton, February 5.

The brother denied all knowledge of the origin of the suit, declaring it was given him by his brother.

Cecelia Dougherty, twenty-six, a married woman living in Somerville, was taken to the hospital weeping and hysterical. She had been with Craig the evening before he forced and entrance to the Curtis home.

She declared she thought Craig was a bootlegger and that her friendship with him, of one month's duration, had no connection with his operations as a burglar.

The loot uncovered in the room occupied by the Craig brothers, at No. 109A Dartmouth street South End, definitely connects the wounded man with almost a score of burglaries.

Craig, a carpenter by trade, born in Prince Edward Island, pursued only his vocation of burglary since he came to Boston. Evidence uncovered shows that for a time he lived in Cambridge and then moved to the Dartmouth street address.

Apparently spending his days in idleness, and giving no intimation of his criminal predilection, even to his closest friends, he spent his nights prowling in Brookline, Newton, Wellesley, Brighton and exclusive residential sections of Boston, being able, through his knowledge of locks, to enter any home at will.

Curtis, at the Newton Hospital, is still on the danger list, although his condition apparently was somewhat improved today. His wife is constantly at his bedside.

An unsuspected romance entered the case today when Mrs. Dougherty was taken, sobbing hysterically, to the bedside of the wounded burglar.

Police are convinced that the woman is telling the truth and that she took no part in Craig's nocturnal wanderings.

"The silence which Curtis has maintained since the shooting, was broken today when he issued a statement through his attorney, Major Thomas L. Walsh.

"I wish I could have avoided it," Curtis said through his attorney. "But I had to shoot to save my wife and family. I did not shoot to kill him, but to make it impossible for him to shoot me."

MYSTERY IN KEYS.

Major Walsh said he found Curtis in good spirits but that a nurse told him his condition was grave.

Major Walsh declared that the only mystery yet unsolved was how the burglar gained entrance to the Curtis home as none of the skeleton keys found in his pockets would open any of the locks on the Curtis doors.

Craig after the former had found the burglar asleep in the sun room of his home at No. 283 Commonwealth avenue in the fashionable Chestnut Hill section of Newton. told she would have to accompany the patrolman to the station house.

Instead of summoning the police patrol, Illingworth, she charged, walked her through the business section, but before Court square was reached, decided he might have made a mistake. He therefore ordered her to forget the incident and proceed home.

MADE COMPLAINT.

"I refused," Mrs. Leonard said, "and insisted upon going to the City Hall avenue station and entering a complaint."

There was no disposition there on the part of the officer in charge, Lieutenant Moser, to entertain a complaint, she charges, whereupon she took the matter up with former Attorney-General J. Weston Allen, who communicated with Police Commissioner Wilson.

Charges were preferred against Illingworth after the commissioner had interviewed Mrs. Leonard.

MERRILL ARRAIGNED ON SERIOUS CASE

Kenneth Merrill, who claimed to be a victim of the alleged blackmailing ring, was arraigned in Middlesex Superior Court on a serious charge as a result of the Grand Jury investigation into certain attempts at extortion from him made in Cambridge.

Mrs. Theresa Duggan was arraigned for the second time within three days. She is charged in the additional indictment with nine counts of conspiracy in the William J. Corcoran cases.

FRANCE TO RACE SHENANDOAH TO POLE

Paris, Feb. 8 (Universal Cable)—An international air race between the United States and France to "claim" the 1,000,000 square miles of uncharted territory near the North Pole was assured by an announcement that a French Arctic expedition will get under way in May.

According to the present plans, several airplanes, supplemented by warships, will start for the North the first week in May using the warships as bases and "landing fields."

Naturally the French are sceptical concerning the success of the Shenandoah, as they believe that if the Dyrnude was unable to weather the storms of the Mediterranean, no dirigible will ever be able to ride the tricky gales which are known to frequent the cold regions.

POSTAL FRANK FOR WILSON'S WIDOW

Washington, Feb. 8.—A bill to bestow the postal franking privilege upon Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, was introduced in the House by Representative W. W. Griest, Republican, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Post Office committee. This courtesy always is extended to widows of former Presidents.

GOES BACK TO FINISH LONG SENTENCE

Benedito on Way to Michigan to Complete 99-Year Term

Persons around the courts, the police stations, the Governor's office and the East Cambridge jail today took their minds off Tea Pot Dome and other scandals to consider the vigor with which the law has moved in the case of John Benedito, who at the age of 70 is in his way back to Michigan from Boston to serve out whatever remains to him of a 99-year sentence in the penitentiary at Marquette.

Sixteen years ago, Benedito, newly arrived in Michigan from Italy, signed with a padrone to go to work in the mines. The padrone, according to custom, took a share of the Italian's weekly wages. They quarreled and Benedito killed his exploiter.

He was paroled last June, on condition that he return to his family in Italy.

In New York, he learned that his son had sold the home place and was living in a Boston suburb. He came here, found the son lived with him for a time and then took lodgings in the North End, where he found employment as a cheesemaker.

GETS YEAR IN JAIL ON WIFE'S TESTIMONY

Lawrence, Feb. 8.—Declaring that her three children were regularly told by their father to disobey her, Mrs. Josephine Bolis, No. 384 Elm street, pressed a complaint against her husband, Constant, in District Court, which resulted in his receiving a jail sentence of one year. Troubles has brewed for nearly a year in the Bolis family and several months ago the wife informed the police that her husband was selling liquor illegally.

EXPRESS OFFICIAL DIES SUDDENLY

CHARGE FORBES HELD REVELS ON ISLAND

Virginian Says Ex-Head of the Vets' Bureau Bought a Lonely Isle for Hospital

Chicago, Feb. 8 (Universal)—A secrecy as deep as that surrounding the secluded island off the Virginia coast which Colonel Charles R. Forbes purchased for the Veterans Bureau, veiled today's hearing of witnesses in the Federal Grand Jury investigation into alleged irregularities in the conduct of the bureau.

Stephen Davis Timberlane, an attorney of Staunton, Virginia, it became known here, is on his way to the Chicago probe in the company of Thomas Horshead, vice-president of a Staunton bank, to testify regarding the purchase of the island.

A natural swimming pool in the center of the island, it is said, caught the fancy of Forbes, who announced that the Bureau had purchased it as a site for a hospital for disabled soldiers. The only habitation on the island was a bungalow which became the scene of many gay week-end parties with Forbes as host, it was charged.

Elias Mortimer, who testified before the Senate hearing, revealing alleged fraud and corruption in the sale of supplies, has testified. His wife, who is alleged to have accompanied her husband and Forbes on several trips during which riotous parties were said to have been staged, will also testify.

EMINENT MEDICAL EXPERTS RALLY TO DEFENCE OF SCHICK SERUM

RATED BY AUTHORITIES AS ONE OF AGE'S GREAT DISCOVERIES

Medical authorities of the highest repute, not only in Boston and New England but throughout the entire country, have rallied to the defence of the Schick serum treatment as a preventative of diphtheria.

The situation, brought about when inoculation of pupils in Boston public schools was undertaken after a number of students at Concord and Bridgewater became ill as a result of having been inoculated with frozen serum, has been brought to the attention of the medical profession throughout the United States.

A bitter attack upon Boston school and health authorities by Henry D. Munn, general counsel for the Medical Liberty League, Inc., has crystallized medical sentiment in favor of the Boston school vaccination project.

The Medical Liberty League, Inc., is bitterly opposed to all forms of vaccination. One brochure of the league, "Vaccination—Its Origin, History and Results," by F. Mason Padelford, M. D., is a bitter denunciation of small-pox vaccine and vaccination—a medical practice that has long been accepted by authorities the world over.

GREAT DISCOVERY.

The reaction to the Munn attack is ably summed up by Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, head of the department of preventative medicine and hygiene at Harvard Medical School and a recognized authority.

"The toxin-anti-toxin serum used in the Schick test is one of the age's greatest discoveries," said Dr. Rosenau.

"Its merits will not suffer through the unfortunate incidents attendant upon its administration to patients in Concord and Bridgewater."

Dr. Rosenau explained that the freezing of the serum was responsible for a complete change in the nature of the virus and that to condemn the entire Schick theory and practice on this account was little less than childish.

"This serum consists of mixture of a toxin and an anti-toxin," said Dr. Rosenau.

SEPARATED BY FREEZING.

"Mixing them together is just the same as mixing an acid and an alkali. They neutralize each other, forming a bland, harmless, non-irritant mixture.

"This mixture also possesses the attribute of stability which makes it very hard to separate its parts, once having been put together.

"It was this separation, through freezing, which caused the illness of the patients in Concord and Bridgewater—nothing else."

Dr. Benjamin White, director of the State Laboratory at Forest Hills, also came strongly to the defence of the Schick serum.

"I only trust that the unfortunate affair at Concord and Bridgewater will not be used by unscrupulous persons to alarm needlessly the parents of Boston school children," said Dr. White.

GOING RIGHT AHEAD

"The Schick theory is absolutely sound. Every batch of serum that could have been exposed to freezing weather has been recalled."

The Schick test was also given a clean bill of health today by Dr. George W. McCoy, director of the Hygiene Laboratory of the United States Public Health Service in Washington.

Dr. McCoy, dispatches quote, said all the Schick serum used in Boston is first tested at the capital and approved by authorized experts. It has been a tremendous benefit in Boston, he said. In most cases it has immunized the children from diphtheria forever.

He said a valuable lesson had been learned as a result of the experience here with sore arms caused by frost serum.

Meantime, Dr. Francis X. Maloney, Boston health commissioner, and the school authorities are going ahead with their plans for immuning children whose parents desire them treated.

Up to the present time 10,000 school children in Massachusetts have been given the Schick test and of this number 70,000 have been rendered immune to diphtheria.

The reason for concentrating the work in the schools is due to the fact that the boy or girl of school age offers the most fertile field for diphtheria.

INFANTS IMMUNE.

An infant, under three months of age, is practically immune to the disease. Also, 85 per cent. of adults are immune.

In children, however, the number immune is very small.

Boston, according to the figures of the Division of Communicable Diseases at City Hall, showed the lowest number of positive reaction to diphtheria tests of any community in New England.

The number of reactions here was 44.1 p. c. of those given the tests. The positive reactions for other New England cities were: New Bedford 66.8; Chelsea, 62.5; Everett, 64.1; Arlington, 79.2; Woburn, 82.2; Reading, 82.5; Ipswich, 79.5; Amherst, 82.3; Hancock and Tyringham, 10 per cent., each.

SUGGEST $55,000 PAY RISE IN BROOKLINE

Salary raises for 280 department heads, office employes and firemen and policemen of Brookline, aggregating $55,000, have been recommended by the Brookline Board of Selectmen. The appropriations committee, which is considering the increases, will report its finding on March 18.

The largest increase recommended is $1,000, for Oscar Gallagher, superintendent of schools, which would boost his annual salary to $7,000. An increase from $3,500 to $3,750 is recommended for Police Chief H. Allen Rutherford.

The Selectmen recommend an increase from $1,600 to $1,800 for first and second year policemen, and an increase from $1,800 to $2,000 for men after two years of service. An increase of $250 to $3,500 a year is recommended for Fire Chief Seldon R. Allen.

SAUGUS BABY IS BURNED TO DEATH

Mother and Brother Risk Lives in Trying to Save Child

Leon Fleming, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Fleming of Churchill street, Saugus, was burned to death today in a fire that destroyed the four-room house in which the family lived.

Mrs. Fleming and twelve-year-old Ralph, brother of the baby, were badly burned on the head and face and body trying to rescue the child.

The baby had been sitting in his high chair in the dining room when clothing hung over the radiator to dry caught fire. In a few moments a wall of flames separated the dining room from the rest of the house.

The child's screams attracted the attention of his mother and brother Ralph. Ralph proved himself a hero by trying to break through the wall of flame to go to the rescue of his baby brother. His mother was severely burned trying the same thing. The flames finally drove both out into the street.

While the mother and Ralph were in the street, ten-year-old Abbie Fleming, sister of the dead baby, returned from an errand and was only held back by several neighbors from rushing into the now tottering house.

The Saugus firemen, delayed in arriving, were hampered in fighting the flames because of the steep slope of Kenwood street.

OIL GRAB BY SINCLAIR EXPOSED

Denver Publisher Tells How Land Lease Was Taken From His Friend

Washington, Feb. 8.—In one of the most bitter arraignments of a public official ever made in the Senate, Senator Walsh, leader of the attack upon the naval reserve leases, today demanded that Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby immediately resign.

"I want to see him driven from office with all the odium that possibly attaches to his going, that his fate may serve for all time as a warning to those who might otherwise foil the Republic as he has failed," Walsh declared.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Today was "Brokers' Day" in the investigation of naval oil reserve lands.

The first man heard, although not a broker, revealed alleged dealings by Sinclair in New Mexico, in what was described as a land graft.

This witness, Fred G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, appeared voluntarily before the committee to explain, he said, what he "knew about the negotiations for the lease of Teapot Dome."

"Some time after it became known that Teapot Dome was leased, Leo Stack came and showed me a contract he had with companies which held a prior location for acreage in Teapot Dome," said Bonfils. "He complained they had leased the whole tract over his head to Sinclair, despite his contract. He wanted me to help him to enforce his rights. We reached an agreement.

EXPLAINS CONTRACT.

After the first $50,000 was made, to go to Stack, the contract was to be divided as follows, Bonfils said:

"Stack was to get 46¼ per cent.; Bonfils himself 23¼ per cent., and Bonfils' attorney, H. H. Swarts, 7½ per cent.

"Because of the suddenness and secrecy with which the Sinclair leases were made," Bonfils said, "I made some investigations and consulted oil men. Then I sent a reporter, Mr. Stachelbach, to investigate and see how the land lay. He came back with an astounding story."

WENT TO SEE SINCLAIR.

Bonfils said some stories were published concerning the Sinclair leases, copies of which were sent to Senators.

Later, Bonfils said, Colonel J. W. Zevely, Sinclair's lawyer, came to see him in Denver and asked him to visit Harry F. Sinclair in New York.

Bonfils said he then went to New York and met Sinclair to discuss suits which he had launched against the Midwest Oil Company, which had been given the lease to property claimed by Stack.

Among the witnesses called were Seymour Cromwell, president of the New York Stock Exchange; Samuel Umgerleider, Cleveland broker; W. B. Hibbs, local broker; John T. King of Connecticut, Guy Stevens and Thomas Lee, New York, of the National Association of Petroleum Producers in Mexico.

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, will be put on the stand tomorrow, at his own request, to make a statement explaining his professional relations with E. L. Doheny, lessee of the Elk Hill reserves. He has severed his connection with the Doheny interests.

McAdoo has no intention of withdrawing from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination because of the publicity he has suffered. On the contrary, it was asserted by his backers, who are now in conference here, he plans to fight for it all the harder.

NEW YORK MAY HAVE "SNOWLESS WINTER"

New York, Feb. 8 (U.N.S.).—Possibility that this will be virtually a snowless Winter in New York loomed large today. The government weather forecaster said that the storm which has been prevailing over the Middle West is not headed this way and that it is possible that this city may escape a snowstorm during the remainder of the Winter. There was a slight flurry of snow during the morning, but the sun appeared almost immediately.

PRINCE OF WALES

PRINCE IS INJURED BY FALL

Wales Breaks His Collarbone When His Horse Tumbles With Him

London, Feb. 8 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales broke his collar bone while exercising one of his hunters at Billington Manor, near Ascot, today.

The prince was putting his mount over a fence when the horse fell, throwing his rider heavily on his shoulder. The prince got up and was remounting with difficulty when his equerry said:

"I believe you've broken your collarbone."

"Yes, I have," Wales replied.

The prince was taken to the surgery at Leighton Buzzard, where he received treatment, and was driven back to Mentmore Mansion. He wore no collar when he emerged from the surgery, and his shoulder was in bandages, but he was still smiling.

Wales has eighteen hunters at Leighton Buzzard and was expecting to do much hunting with the Waddon Chase hounds. He had gone overnight to Mentmore Mansion with Lord Dalmeny, prior to the meet of the Waddon Chase this morning at Ascot.

He was astir early, taking several hunters over to Billington Manor, the property of Sir Richard Cooper, to give them a preliminary gallop. It was while putting his mount over a stiff fence that the accident happened.

An express train which was stopped at Leighton Buzzard to take the Prince on board brought him to London before noon.

N. Y. STATE WEALTH IS $36,986,638,000

Washington, Feb. 8.—The Department of Commerce announces, for the State of New York, its preliminary estimate of the value, December 31, 1922, of the principal forms of wealth, the total amounting to $36,986,638,000, as compared with $25,031,447,000 in 1912, an increase of 47.8 per cent. Per capita values increased from $2,628 to $3,431, or 30.6 per cent.

It is stated that the increases in money value are to a large extent due to the rise in prices which has taken place in recent years, and so far as that is the case they do not represent corresponding increases in the quantity of wealth.

WIDOW CONROY WAS FOND OF 'HOME BREW'

Will Case Witness Tells of Making 20 Bottles at Time in the Conroy Home

It was learned today that Mrs. Irene Conroy of Everett, whose will, in which she left all her property to Attorney William J. Patron, a Boston lawyer, is being contested by Miss Mildred Dunn and Mrs. Mary Langhans, relatives, was fond of home-brewed beer, of which George Sherman, who did odd jobs around the Conroy home, made twenty bottles at a time.

Mrs. Conroy was the widow of the late Dr. Peter J. Conroy.

Sherman testified to this in the Middlesex Probate Court today, before Judge Chamberlain.

It had been previously testified that Mrs. Conroy told a witness that Patron was more than a lawyer to her, and that he had kissed her.

The last witness called was Miss Maud E. Carney, secretary to Attorney Patron for the past twelve years. She testified that she drew up the will for Mrs. Conroy, in the absence of Attorney Patron.

Miss Carney said Mrs. Conroy told her that Patron was the "smartest lawyer she had ever had," and that he had loaned her money.

Mrs. Conroy also said on that occasion, testified Miss Carney, that she wanted all her property to go to Attorney Patron, and wished her relatives would be as kind to her as he had been.

Under cross-examination, Miss Carney testified that Attorney Patron visited Mrs. Conroy evenings on several occasions.

GUARD BANDIT CHIEF AGAINST RESCUE PLOT

"Whitey" Diamond Taken to Court Under Heavy Escort of Armed Detectives

New York, Feb. 8 (I.N.S.).—Heavily guarded, Morris P. (Whitey) Diamond, alleged mastermind of the bandit gang that killed two bank messengers in the $43,000 Brooklyn holdup last November, was brought into the courtroom in the Brooklyn Supreme Court today where nine tentative jurors had been chosen to try him on a charge of murder.

Sheriff John N. Harman said he knew of no plot to rescue Diamond, but that he "was taking no chances."

Following the jail van in which Harman and a deputy rode with the prisoner was an automobile with several detectives.

The mother and four sisters of Diamond shrieked hysterically and were led from the courtroom when the trial began.

The outbreak occurred when a witness accused Joseph Diamond, brother of the defendant, and one of the quartet under indictment, of being one of two men he saw holding revolvers on an elevated station platform when the messengers were killed.

Woodrow Wilson's Life Insured for $20,000

New York, Feb. 8.—Woodrow Wilson carried $20,000 worth of life insurance; two $10,000 policies in the Mutual Insurance Co. of New York. One was issued when he was 37 years old and a professor at Princeton. The other was taken out in 1909, six years later, his secondary occupation then being given as lawyer and lecturer. Mr. Wilson once said a man who did not provide for his children and dependents has not "opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life."

MYSTERY GIRL HELD FOR THEFT FROM MATES

A young Southern girl who refuses to tell anything about herself or her family, is being held by the police to await trial on the charge of stealing $400 worth of clothes from her roommates.

The complaint against the girl has been made by Elizabeth Richie and Ruth Hampsoth of No. 31 Botolph street, who said they took the girl into their apartment to live with them after she had been introduced by a mutual friend.

The girl says her name is Rita McCarthy, but aside from admitting that her home is in the South, she has refused to talk.

ALL ARE SAVED IN QUEBEC ICE BRIDGE CRASH

Last of Victims Escape as the Drifting Floes Give Them Chance to Leap Ashore

Quebec, Feb. 8.—All of the persons swept away on floes while crossing the St. Lawrence River on an ice bridge last night have been rescued, it was announced by rescue workers today.

The government ice breaker, Lady Grey, picked up the last five of the imperilled victims at Cape Rouge. They had been reported as the only persons missing and were believed to have perished.

The five—three women and two men—were not definitely accounted for by the searchers until after 11 o'clock today. A peculiar accident was responsible for their salvation. The incoming tide sent the jagged block of ice on which they kept precarious footing upstream to a point where the St. Lawrence narrows and is spanned by the Quebec Bridge.

The narrowed straits jammed the ice together for a few brief minutes, and the quintet jumped to the shore across the floes.

For hours their plight had seemed desperate to the awe-stricken crowds on shore who watched them afloat on their bobbing ice pan, beyond the reach of help.

Some of the spectators, more cool-headed than others, shouted advice to the five not to attempt the jump to safety, but to wait until the tide had carried the drift ice further up stream.

They waited until the current edged the pan against the river bank then jumped to safety.

CROWD AT WILSON'S TOMB FILLS SETREETS

Washington, Feb. 8.—The crowds which have been passing through Bethlehem Chapel at the Cathedral where Woodrow Wilson was entombed Wednesday, today gave no indication of diminishing. Despite the cold, they began gathering early and by 9 o'clock had overflowed the streets and tied up traffic.

The War Department has given orders that the soldier guard shall remain for an indefinite period.

JAPS HONOR WOOD FOR QUAKE RELIEF

Manila, Feb. 8.—The Japanese Red Cross, acting under the auspices of the Emperor and Empress, has conferred decorations on Governor-General Leonard Wood and a number of army officers as a recognition of the part they played in the Philippine relief expedition to Japan after the disaster last September.

A Japanese warship brought the decorations to Manila. The officers decorated were: Brigadier-General Frank R. McCoy, Colonel G. T. Langhorne, Colonel P. L. Munson, Lieutenant-Colonel D. W. Hand, Lieutenant-Colonel C. G. Morse, Major Phillippine relief expedition to Japan after the disaster last September. Neil Bailey, Major C. E. McBrayer.

ROMEO POLICEMAN ACCUSED BY WIDOY

Complaints filed by a widow of Hyde Park against Patrolman James McCarthy of the Hyde Park station revealed a romance which today brought the patrolman Romeo before the police trial board.

McCarthy is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer. The widow says she met McCarthy at a movie in Hyde Park. "He said he was lonesome and wanted to walk home with me. After that he came to see me frequently," she told examiners.

According to physicians, she is to become a mother. McCarthy denies the charges.

Betty Alden Outlines Nuptial Plans of Miss Katherine Abbott

By BETTY ALDEN

HANDSOME Miss Katherine Abbott has selected her attending group for the ceremony which will transform her into Mrs. George Batchelder, Jr., on February 21.

The bridesmaids will be the Misses Betty Beal, Ellen Curtis, Katherine Lane and Dorothy Batchelder, of Boston, and Miss Molly de Forest and Mrs. George Fuller (Dorothy Caswell), of New York. Her sister, Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop (Eleanor Abbott), will be matron of honor.

Ellen Curtis

The all-important event will be solemnized in Trinity Church at 2 o'clock. Boston's fashionable world will be out in full force for the occasion, with a number of folk coming on from Gotham and Baltimore.

AUBURN-HAIRED Alice Thomas of Hereford street, whose talent at clog dancing I wrote about the other day, is going to Washington to act as bridesmaid for Miss Evelyn Wadsworth.

Miss Wadsworth is the daughter of Senator and Mrs. James W. Wadsworth, and her marriage on March 1 to William S. Symington, 3rd, will be one of the most important events of the capital's season.

Miss Joan Whitney, daughter of the Payne Whitneys, who have quite a following along the North Shore, is to be maid of honor for Miss Wadsworth. Other attendants for the bride-to-be include Mrs. Reber Littlehales, Miss Nancy Hoyt, Miss Zeila MacDougall, Miss Helen McLawhan, all of Washington; Mrs. DeCourcy Wright Orrick of Baltimore, Katherine Gray of Geneseo, N. Y., and Miss Elizabeth Metcalf of Pittsburgh.

MISS EVELYN WALKER of Brookline, I hear, is planning to join the ranks of Married Marrons—as the Social Register terms them—early in the Spring, though the exact date has not yet been set.

Evelyn Walker

Less than a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walker announced the engagement of their daughter to John MacDuffee, 2nd, of New York, a Harvard senior.

Miss Walker, who made her debut with last year's coterie, is a tall, slender girl of fragile blonde beauty. She is a graceful dancer, and was one of the dancing girls in "Mlle. Modiste," given this week by the Junior League.

ANOTHER bride of the not-too-distant future is popular Miss Rosamond Johnson, whose marriage to Howland Seabury will take place on May 1.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mrs. Wolcott Howe Johnson of Commonwealth avenue and the North Shore.

Society Notes

MR. AND MRS THOMAS B. GANNETT of Milton have been spending a few days at the Copley Plaza.

BABY GIRL WITH SHIFTING HEART SUCCUMBS

Continually Moved From One Side to the Other During Two Years of Life

Washington, N. J., Feb. 8.—Anna Elizabeth Dugan, two years old, whose heart action for the last two years has puzzled physicians, is dead. During the child's short existence her heart moved from one side to the other.

When the infant was twelve days old X-ray photographs showed the heart was continually moving. Thirteen New Jersey and Pennsylvania physicians became interested in the case and were dumbfounded when the patient showed improvement over-when the heart rested on the right side.

Several ventured the belief that a ruptured diaphragm had caused gas to form and press the heart over.

Inman Square Mourns for Prince, Missing Scotch Collie

Inman square, Cambridge, wants Prince back again.

Prince is a fine, full-blood collie—a beauty and a "hail fellow well met."

He wandered away from the vicinity of the home of John Coughlin, No. 1091 Cambridge street, or was stolen from Inman square a few days ago while making the rounds of business establishments where, for years, he was well known and welcome.

Mr. Coughlin offers a suitable reward for his return or for information as to his whereabouts.

WOMAN ASTHMA VICTIM ACCUSES "HEALER"

Bernadine, and a sister-in-law of . Aldrich.

rs. Morgan's story follows:

went to Healer Dennis on the mmendation of a friend in Low- who told my husband that his and mother, or mother-in-law, e being treated by this Salem thought probably his methods uded electric treatments, because e friends of ours said he was a gnetic healer.

hile asked me what my trouble . I told him asthma. He said he ainly could cure me and would, s was on or about August 22 of year.

He told me he had cured all diseases. He said he had cured many such cases as mine.

CASH BEFORE CURE

"He said he would give me six treatments for $10. Each treatment was to last an hour. He said he did not know how many treatments I would require but he urged me to pay him ten dollars in advance for the six treatments.

"I said I would rather pay for each as I took it and we agreed on a price of two dollars a treatment.

"He threw back the curtain of one of the two booths and asked me to sit down. He drew the curtain over again and took his place behind me.

"For treatment he just laid his hands on my chest and talked like a book agent about everything but asthma. Sometimes he laid his palms on my chest, sometimes he just held his finger-tips against me. He asked me once if I felt any vibration, and when I replied, 'No, I am all choked up with my asthma,' he rubbed my throat a little bit.

"He talked incessantly about his past cures. He also talked about his pet parrot, which he showed me and which he praised highly, saying it could say 35 words.

"He showed a newspaper clipping, yellow with age, which was really a testimonial to the magnetic healing power of Healer Dennis. It was from an old Boston paper, he said.

"Then he remembered a dusty old picture which he said was a photograph taken in a theatre where people of both sexes and all ages came begging him to work his cures.

"When he was through with me he treated Mrs. Alice Aldrich for varicose veins.

"When I left I was just as much choked up with asthma as when I went there. I paid him two dollars.

"That first visit was on Wednesday. I returned on Friday. He gave me the same treatment—the touch of hands and flow of conversation.

SUPERNATURAL CLAIM

"When I told him I was still just as bad, he gave me two little white tablets. He said to take only a little bit of one and my asthma would be relieved, but that it might also give me a headache. Soon after leaving his office, feeling very much choked up, I ate half of one of the tablets. The promised relief didn't come, but the promised headache came in a second.

"It was quite a headache. My brain felt numb and my ears ached so I could hardly stand it. I threw the rest of the tablets away.

"These pills Healer Dennis took from the pocket of his coat.

"Healer Dennis' office is in an apartment block. When I rang the bell, he ushered me in himself. I saw a man of about sixty years, dressed in a dark gray business suit, short in height and of medium build.

"His face was smooth—neither mustache nor beard. His pure white hair stood out short and straight all over his scalp. It looked very funny it was so bristly.

"Among his patients there was a woman from Cambridge whom doctors had pronounced incurably ill with kidney trouble. She was a constant visitor, I understand. I don't know her name or address.

"He told me he lives in Beverly.

"I am now taking asthma treatments at the Massachusetts General Hospital—regular orthodox asthma medicine, combined with violet ray treatments.

"Among other things Dennis told me he had recently been in a bad auto accident, that his pants had been stripped from him and torn into shreds, the auto completely demolished, but that his power had protected him and saved him.

"After I stopped going, he told my neighbor, Mrs. Aldrich, he was sorry I stopped going because he could cure me."

CRUISER ROCHESTER SENT TO HONDURAS

Washington, Feb. 8.—The cruiser Rochester, now at Colon, has been ordered to La Ceiba, Honduras, in response to an appeal to the State Department from American residents who fear that revolutionary developments will jeopardize their interests.

No outbreak has been reported, but Americans believe the prospects for an amicable adjustment of the Honduras election tangle are not good and that fighting may break out at any time.

FIND OLDEST FORM OF PHOENICIA ALPHABET

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.—Dr. George A. Barton, professor of Semitics at the University of Pennsylvania, has received a letter from Palestine stating that two French archaeologists have discovered the oldest form of the Phoenician alphabet yet found. It is declared to date not later than 1200 B. C., and from it Greek, Roman, Hebrew and English alphabets can be traced.

The earliest inscription previously known in the Phoenician alphabet were upon the Moabite stone found in 1859, dated 850 B. C., according to Dr. Barton.

HOLD SON OF RICH FAMILY FOR THEFT

Fred Arnold, eighteen-year-old member of a wealthy family of Middleboro, was arrested today. He is charged with rifling the mail box of Miss Ruby W. Dunham of No. 118 Mt. Vernon street, taking a check for $75 and cashing it. The check was mailed to Miss Dunham by her attorney. When she failed to receive it and it later turned up at the bank, endorsed, her attorney notified the police. The course of the check was traced to the store where Arnold is alleged to have had it cashed.

Alice J. Donahue.

Miss Alice J. Donahue, a buyer in the clothing department of the Jordan Marsh Company, will be married to Herman A. Murray, manager in the same Department of the store, on February 20.

At lunch hour the news spread rapidly through the store. It was discussed in the subway and in trolley cars as the employes spread out, fan-like, toward the suburbs and dinner.

Approached by reporters both Miss Donahue and Mr. Murray confirmed the news. The ceremony is to be performed in a Boston hotel. The wedding trip will take them to New Hampshire, where they will take part in a winter carnival.

YOUNG ADVENTURERS, CHASTENED, GO HOME

Angelo Alfi and Arturo Ehnual, New York boys, have had their touch of high life. Today, chastened in spirit, they returned to New York with Alfi's father. The boys, cloth chums, grew tired of life in New York and started in quest of adventure.

They stole three $1,000 bonds of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company from the elder Alfi and came to Boston. When they endeavored to sell the bonds suspicions of employes in a North End bank were aroused and police notified. Today Judge Sullivan found the boys guilty of larceny and gave them each a three months' suspended sentence on condition that they return home.

POLICE HUNTING MISSING CHILD

The police of the Roxbury district are unable to trace five-year-old George H. Brown, Jr. (colored), who mysteriously disappeared while on his way from his home at No. 1 Kenilworth street to the Louis Prang School, a few doors away. His mother watched the boy until he was almost at the school yard. He never reached the school room.

The boy is short and stocky and because of a peculiar cast in one eye is obliged to wear glasses.

BELL ON STRING TRAPS MILK THIEF

Tinkling Signal Arouses Mrs. Survekis, Who Turns Purloiner Over to Police

Obeying to the letter instructions of the police, to whom she had complained of many milk robberies, Mrs. M. Survekis, of No. 30 School street, Cambridge, tied a string around the neck of a milk bottle, with the other end attached to a bell in her room upstairs.

Early today the bell started clanging. Mrs. Survekis ran downstairs and found Gus Harris making off with the milk. She gave him a beating and turned him over to the police.

Before Judge Edward Counihan in East Cambridge Court Harris pleaded guilty today and was fined $15.

Swallowed Tooth Plate Is Removed From Man's Chest

New York, Feb. 8.—George Youmans today is able to swallow and breathe with comfort after an unusual operation by Dr. Charles J. Imperatori.

Six weeks ago Youmans swallowed his upper tooth plate. There was no great discomfort at the time, but three weeks ago he began to have trouble. In St. Vincent's Hospital an X-ray showed the plate imbedded in the chest wall.

Dr. Bradford Quinlan, surgeon in chief of the division, attempted to remove it ten days ago, but was not successful, because of the man's condition.

4 CRUSHED TO DEATH IN MINE CAVE-IN

Inverness, Cape Breton, Feb. 8.—Four miners were crushed to death in a cave-in in No. 1 mine at Inverness when they were buried without warning under an avalanche that locked the tunnel for over 200 feet. The dead men, Neil McIsaac, Dan McDougall, Dan C. McIsaac and Archie A. McIsaac, the last two brothers, all were married men with families.

SAFE ROBBERS FRIGHTENED BY CLOCK'S TICK

Cambridge Bandits Flee Laundry Empty Handed; Loot Was Within Reach

Robbers who knocked the dial and knob off the safe of the Superior Wet Wash Laundry, No. 67 Rogers street, East Cambridge, and then vanished, left a fat purse almost within reach, according to reports to police headquarters today.

A few minutes' work would have opened up the prize to them. It is thought probable that a large hall clock in the office of the laundry, which at five minutes to the hour makes a loud click like an opening door, was responsible for the burglars' flight.

Footprints show that the thieves entered by a cellar window, climbing down over a coal pile.

U. S. FACES HARDEST TEST IN THE OLYMPIC TRACK EVENTS

FINLAND IS RATED AS CLOSEST RIVAL

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—Having tasted defeat in the Winter sports, opening features of the 1924 Olympiad, America now is focusing increased attention on preparations for the coming tests of speed, skill and brawn in France in the Spring and Summer.

The next international tests do not come until May and June, when this country will send representatives to compete in soccer football, polo, target shooting, shotgun matches and fencing, but chief interest from now will be centred in the formation of the team of about 350 athletes which will seek to retain Uncle Sam's supremacy in the track and field sports in July.

Willie Ritola

The 1924 menace to this country's hitherto well-established superiority in track—blue ribbon Olympic feature—has been emphasized, in the opinion of observers here, by the decisive triumph of Norway and Finland in the Winter sports.

Experts recognize that our Scandinavian rivals were aided by natural aptitude for and experience in the cold weather games, but they point out that the results demonstrate the thoroughness with which these countries are going about their Olympic efforts.

This intensive preparation, amounting to more of a national program than in this country, is expected to result in better competition for honors than ever before.

The lesson of the 1924 Olympic opening, in the minds of those shaping America's plans, is that efforts must be bent to the utmost if we are to retain laurels held without interruption for a quarter of a century.

Finland, it is generally recognized, will be this country's most formidable rival in track and field contests, but the entire group of Northern European countries, which also includes Sweden and Esthonia, has a wealth of promising material.

The Finns, who captured nine first places in 1920 at Antwerp, as many as Uncle Sam's stars collected, will send an even stronger array to Paris, headed by Paavo Nurmi, Willie Ritola, Hannes Kolehmainen and others whose prowess is almost as well known here as it is abroad.

In Elvin Wide, Sweden has a distance star nearly equal in calibre to Nurmi, the world's record holder at a mile, while Norway possesses in Charles Hoff one of the greatest all-around athletes of the present day. Hoff is the world's pole vault record holder, besides being a star jumper and runner.

AMATEUR BOUTS FOR EAST BOSTON

Fittou Council, K. of C., the big noise in amateur boxing circles in East Boston, will hold their next tournament on February 26, in Columbus Hall, East Boston. The 147 pound class will again be featured, Al Mello, 147-pound sensation; Hunchy Beale, East Boston favorite; Marty Corbett of Lynn and Pat Austin of East Boston have already entered.

Joe Minnehan, Charlestown idol, is also expected to enter this class. Five classes will be seen at the coming tourney, 112, 126, 137, open 118 and 135 novice. Entries close on February 19, with Tommy Hegan, No. 36 Neptune road, East Boston.

Tufts Will Play Aggies

The Aggies defeated Harvard two weeks ago and they hope to "take" the Medford college.

Newsboys to Show Their Speed at the Y. M. C. A. Meet

A series of athletic meets for employed boys is being arranged at the Huntington avenue branch of the Y. M. C. A. There will be three meets, one for newsboys, one for boys working in financial houses, and one for store boys.

In this manner practically all the youngsters who want to go after a prize will get a chance. There will be a final meet in which the champions in the three competitions will take part.

MONDT WILLING TO WRESTLE ZANOVICH

There is every prospect for a return match between Wrestlers Mondt and Paul Zanovich. The only hitch now is whether Mondt can arrange his bookings so as to be in Boston on February 18, when Promoter Tuohey has a date in Mechanics Building.

George Tuohey

Mondt telegranned to Tuohey that he will do everything in his power to cancel or to shift his Western dates to meet conditions here in Boston. Zanovich, also telegraphed to Tuohey that he would start for Boston immediately on receipt of confirmation of the date and that he will train here for the contest.

"Get me Mondt, even if I must give him every cent of the purse," was the message sent by the Lithuanian champion, who is anxious to get another crack at the semi topped Colorado star.

Tuohey plans to bring another of the younger crop of heavies here for one of the bouts. "The man I have in mind is so good that although he is unknown to Boston fans, I feel sure he will create just as much of a sensation as Zanovich did," says the veteran promoter.

"SAM" CRAWFORD TO BE BASEBALL COACH

Los Angeles, Feb. 8.—Sam Crawford, with Detroit for almost a decade, has signed a contract to coach the University of Southern California baseball team for the 1924 season. He will take charge of his new duties immediately.

George Sisler Expects to Return to Game

By NICK FLATLEY

George Sisler, one of the greatest ball players of all time, expects to return to the game in the 1924 season. His eyes, which went bad on him from eyestrain, are now in such condition that he expects to be right in the game from the opening bell, or thereabouts.

George Sisler

George has been training all winter at Rodondo Beach, Cal., with Jimmy Austin, who very properly may be called a real "Right Eye." It was George's right eye that was twisted in a manner that baffled a whole army of physicians.

When the great hitter was first stricken, his eye was turned almost completely in his head, and he had double vision—saw everything twice. That seemed to banish him from baseball. But his bad optic has responded wonderfully to treatment.

According to the technicalities of the case, the eye, at the beginning, was turned from normal 32 points out of a possible 40. One the last examination, before George left St. Louis, the eye was less than one point off true. And Sisler has written the club owners to the effect that he's getting better every day.

Walter Pitch, vice president of the Browns, was here for the American League meeting, and was extremely optimistic about Sisler's case. Walter had heard from Jimmy Austin, who reported his boss to be just as nifty as ever with a baseball.

Sisler, himself, had written the club that his vision was apparently all right except when he looked quickly to one side. Then things were not so good, but were getting better, he said.

The new manager is still comparatively young—not quite thirty—and should normally be good for at least half a dozen more high years. He was one of the most popular chaps who ever starred in the American League, and his total loss as a player would be a severe blow to that circuit.

At the meeting the other day George was awarded a diploma as the most valuable player in the league in 1922. Ever since he broke in as a regular he has been piling up records. He's one of the few big leaguers who have batted above the .400 mark twice.

Sisler broke in as a pitcher, and was a mighty good southpaw, too. But he showed so much stuff with the bat and in the field that he just couldn't be kept on the bench. So he was pushed at first base and immediately became one of the very best performers that cushion ever was attached to.

George claims now that if his vision does not return perfectly he will still be able to go in there and do some pitching. Which is probably true. And there are a lot of hitlers in the American League who will tell you that George, blindfolded, would probably be able to hit better than nine out of any ten players on might name.

MAPLES TACKLE UNICORNS IN A LEAGUE GAME

The B. A. A. and Maples will meet in a United States League hockey match at the Arena tonight, but the Unicorns will be without the services of A. G. Smith. Alex Campbell and Leo Morrissey. In this week condition the Unicorns face the vital test of their season. A defeat at this stage of the race would be a severe blow to the team which now shares a top tie in the Eastern division with the Boston Hocker Club.

Dute Chisholm.

The forward line work is up to Hugo Harrington, Jerry Geran and Tubby Cronin with Bob Hall, the Brookline kid who beat St. Paul, and Pop Conley as spares.

Corda McKay

It's a question whether this lineup can show sufficient power to stop the Maples with six good forwards available.

The Maples will have Jerry Geran to worry about. This whirling dervish of hockey has shown marvelous form in his last few games. His uncanny skill in cornering in and out of good defensive moves him the outstanding figure of Boston hockey.

PACES FEATURES THE PORTLAND ICE RACES

Portland, Me., Feb. 8.—The features of the opening day at the Winter ice carnival held at The Oaks were the pacing races which brought out some fast wigglers. Some fast quarter mile dashes were held throughout the afternoon.

Robert M. took the measure of the chestnut pacer, Carl C., and won in three straight heatings. The final dash was negotiated in 2.9½, a new record for the course.

Gold Quartz raced away from Carter June in the other fast class. The winner paced two of the heats in 2.08 seconds.

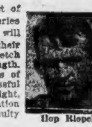
Both of the winners are owned by the Everett sportsman. Hanson Tiwaldie, who was on hand with a party of friends from the "Hub."

Today will close the racing part of the carnival, when the more good events will be contested. Robert M., Gold Quartz and Carl C. will meet in the feature, while Winona C., the Portland mare, and Carter June will come together in a match race for $250 a side. Many fans were present to witness the sport.

Basketball Notes

A revival of the rivalry between Boston College and Holy Cross will occur Saturday when the Eagle tackles the Holy Cross basketball quintet at St. Mary's Gym, Cambridge.

Bill Melley



Hop Riopel

The game will be the first of the annual three game series which the two college teams will play. With five victories to their credit, the Eagles hope to stretch the series its extended length. For many years the wearers of the Purple have been successful in taking the set, two straight, but with its present aggregation B. C. should have no difficulty in turning the tables.

Holy Cross has had poor luck on the court thus far, but the teams which takes the floor tomorrow will stick to just the same.

Last season, the Eagles captured the opening game by a comfortable margin, but dropped the rest of the series.

Mockler, one of the most prominent of the B. C. substitutes, will be unable to play on account of an infected leg, and Andy Carroll will be called on the take his place. The varsity quintet is composed of lettermen, and should find little difficulty in sounding the weak points of the Purple defence.

The three "M's," as they are known at the college, Melley, Mahoney and Mooney, can be relied upon at any time for a sure brushing of the basket. Hickey, captain, and Harrison, the remaining defencemen, are also whirlwinds.

Joe Minehan, of boxing as well as of basketball fame is sure to have plenty of opportunity to display the superior style he possessed while at B. C. High.

Hop Riopel will lead the Purple five.

B. C. High will entertain Waltham High, the season's objective, between the periods.

Lots of action can be looked for in the Greater Boston league tonight, when the St. Pleasant C. A. A. of Roxbury mingles with the Chelsea Knights at the Roxbury High school gym. The Rose Croix five will meet the Cathedral A. A. team at Girls' High School, Pembroke street.

Randolph five of the South Shore will play the Weymouth A. A.

The St. Mark's Catholic Club of Dorchester is ready to play anything to play on account of an infected leg, and Andy Carroll will be called on the take his place. The varsity quintet is composed of lettermen, and should find little difficulty in sounding the weak points of the Purple defence.

Teams seeking action write to John J. Bradley, Jr., No. 11 Allston street, Dorchester, or telephone Dorchester 6161-W.

The St. Stanislaus Five of Chelsea want to play 100-110-pound teams in State or are away from home. Write Stanley Gamoski, No. 31 Pembroke street, Chelsea.

The Boston News Bureau basketball team wishes to arrange games with any 100-110-pound teams in the State. For games write Billy Bergen, 79 Kilby street, Boston.

The Cohasset Town team seeks games with teams giving return dates. Haverhill, Joyce Brothers, Clinton, North Attleboro and Gloucester preferred. Write to A. L. Hjorkland, 20 Ellis street, Hingham. Telephone Hingham 0085-R.

M'CREARY AND NORFOLK IN WORLD TITLE BOUT TONIGHT

HAMBONE VS IRISH CHAMP

By JACK CONWAY.

Battling McCreary's world's light-heavyweight championship will hang in the balance when he clashes with Kid Norfolk, conqueror of Battling Gill, in the final ten-round bout at the Suffolk A. C.'s heavyweight tournament at Mechanics Building tonight.

Alex McLean.

McCreary and Norfolk top one of the greatest heavyweight cards ever offered in the East. Besides the tussle for the world's light-heavyweight title, there will also be three other ten-round contests.

Hambone Kelly, South Boston's illustrious lonyo king, will quarrel with Irish Jim Montgomery, who made Jonney Wilson step lively in a ten-round contest at Scranton, Pa., last Summer.

Jack Sharkey of this city, latest heavyweight sensation, will oppose Battling Hance of Quincy whom Harry Kelly predicts will soon be cut front with the fast steppers.

Whitey Allen of Hyde Park, hero of two slashing bouts with Eddie Record, will oppose the hard hitting Neddo Flanagan of Malden.

Nineteen hundred pounds of fighting flesh and bone will be seen in action during the show. Those persons who enjoy seeing free smoching, and that includes about every boxing fan, should be satisfied.

McCREARY TO TRY TO SAVO KID NORFOLK.

McCreary, jealous of his new title, will try to eliminate Kid Norfolk for all time tonight by putting over a knockout. Norfolk is the former champion. He lost his title to McCreary after a furious engagement at the Grand Opera House last Spring. In that contest, McCreary took everything Norfolk had to offer in the way of heavy punches in the early sessions and then went out and punched his way to a decisive victory.

McCreary will enter the ring this p. m. with the confidence that goes with a championship. He will also be better trained than ever as Alex McLean his directed his preparations for tonight's contest.

Norfolk will also be fit at post time. This famous colored ring star recently vanquished Battling Siki in a fifteen-round engagement in New York and is of the opinion he will regain his championship at the Suffolk Club's show.

It should be a fast, bitter bout with plenty of free, punching. That's what the fans want.

Hambone Kelly will resume operations in the ring when he collides with Irish Jim Montgomery. It cannot be said that Johnny McGrath is picking a soft one for the illustrious knock 'em over youth.

Montgomery was first brought forward by Dan Morgan, who does not make a practice of bothering with pugilistic dead wood. Irish Jim proved he can step in fast company when he gave Johnny Wilson a spirited tussle for ten rounds at Scranton, Pa., early last Summer.

As Montgomery, like Hambone, relies upon the old slam to win, there should be action once the bell sounds.

JACK SHARKEY MAY PROVE BETTER FIGHTER THAN FIRPO.

It is seldom that a young fighter has created such an impression with the ring veterans as Jack Sharkey, who mingles with Battling Hance of Quincy in another ten-round affair. In his Boston bow, Sharkey knocked out Billy Muldoon of Lynn inside of a minute.

It was not so much the fact that Sharkey won by a knockout as the way he performed his feat that impressed those at the ringside. Unlike most young heavyweights, Sharkey punches short and with crushing effect. Furthermore he uses a left hook to the jaw as well as a right hand sock. He also shifts his attack from the head to the body in true Dempsey fashion.

Jack Bulger, Mickey Walker's manager, declared after seeing Sharkey in action that the latter looks more promising than Firpo did when he made his debut in New Jersey. Tom Goodwin, Eddie Mack and other good judges of ring men were equally complimentary in their rating of Sharkey.

Hance, who will oppose Sharkey, is managed by Harry Kelly. The latter has his protege in fine condition and he says he will prick the Sharkey bubble this p. m.

Ted Coolidge of Manchester and Neddo Flanagan of Malden, a couple of rough and ready punchers, mingle in the other ten-session. Flanagan is one of those carefree young men who can step in with the best of company and make a showing.

Jack Conway Picks Hambone, Sharkey, Norfolk, Flanagan

Jack Conway, holder of the world's record for picking winners, will try to name the four victors at tonight's Suffolk A. A. show at Mechanics Building.

"Bill Carrigan once told us," says Jack, "that a ball club, no matter how good it may be, is always fortunate to break even on a double-header. I think the same is true when one tries to pick all the winners of an all-star show. I have found that such an offering is the hardest thing to dope. This is usually because matchmakers are able to get evenly matched fighters for such an offering.

"Take Norfolk and McCreary, for example. When they last fought the going was so close it was a mystery to us how the dear old judges ever arrived at a decision. We are picking Norfolk to win tonight, but wouldn't be surprised if McCreary upset our dope. The Battler has been called the new Sam Langford and his record gives him real ring standing.

"Hambone Kelly, mighty son of swat, should be ab'e to win over Jim Montgomery, but will have to step lively to do so.

"Jack Sharkey, latest heavyweight sensation and hailed as another Firpo, should win over Battling Hance.

"Neddo Flanagan is our choice over Ted Coolidge."

Jack has picked twenty-three winners out of a possible twenty-five this year.

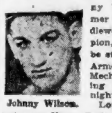
LOUGHRAN IS MADE 10 TO 7 FAVORITE

Tommy Loughran, heavy hitting Philadelphia fighter, has been made a 10 to 7 favorite in the betting for his ten-round bout with Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, which will be staged by the Armory A. A. at Mechanics Building on Tuesday night.



Johnny Wilson.

Loughran's victories over Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, and Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, are responsible for his being installed a choice over Wilson. The speculative element believe that as Loughran was classy enough to conquer Greb and McTigue, that he should not find it difficult to win over Wilson.

One wager of $200 against $500 has been made that Loughran wins by a knockout.

It will be remembered that the Philadelphian all but knocked Greb out when they battled for the first time in Philadelphia a year ago last Summar. Tommy dropped Greb for the count of nine in the first round.

Wilson is much easier to hit than Greb, and as a result Loughran's chance of scoring with a knockout is much better than it was when he battled the middleweight boss. At Mechanics Building last Fall, Loughran battered Greb around the ring by scoring with heavy body socks. This is how he won the decision.

LOUGHRAN TO TRY FOR A KNOCKOUT.

"I am determined to knock Wilson out," says Loughran. "When champion, Johnny was not game enough to give a chance at the title. He turned down a $10,000 offer for an eight-round no-decision tussle in Philadelphia. He was afraid I would knock him out.

"I shall make Wilson fight on Tuesday night. I will punch him around the ring and have him flying the white flag inside of five rounds. There isn't a chance of the bout going the full distance. I have walloped Greb and McTigue and am now going to give Wilson a drubbing."

There will also be three bang-up eight-round bouts. Felix King of Berlin, N. H., a new candidate for honors in the middleweight division, will clash with Jack Dillon of Woburn. Walter Lee of Denver and Panama George Dixon of Providence, colored lightweights, will swap blows as will George Corbosa of Peabody and Mickey McNeil of Jamaica Plain.

ANDY MARTIN TO CLASH WITH BAXTER

Young Baxter of Pawtucket, bantam champion of Rhode Island, and Andy Martin of the South End clash in the feature bout at the Casino A. C., Lynn, on Monday night. Baxter began boxing while overseas with the 26th (Yankee) Division, and out of ten fights while over there, he won seven and had three draws.

He is a great favorite with the Shoe City fans, because of his great bouts this season with Eddie Polo, bantam champion of Maine. Baxter is a genuine bantam, never weighing over 115 pounds. He has lost but two decisions since he started boxing and most of his wins have been by the knockout route.

Martin's only appearance at Lynn was with Terry Parker, two weeks ago.

Martin and Baxter are about the same size. This bout shapes up as one of the best staged by the Lynn club this year.

Barney Ryder of Milwaukee, a stablemate of Joe Jawson, will meet Mike Mandot of Cambridge in the semi-final. Mandot is one of the most satisfactory performers around Boston and as Ryder comes well recommended it should be a fast bout.

Harry Brown of Peabody, who is yet to be defeated in the professional ranks, will meet Young Stanton in a six-rounder.

DARTMOUTH CARNIVAL IN FULL SWING TODAY

Hanover, N. H., Feb. 8.—With more than two feet of snow on the level, weather conditions point to one of the most successful Winter Carnivals Dartmouth has ever held.

This afternoon ski and cross country races will be held, with representatives from various colleges, including McGill, Williams and New Hampshire State.

In the snow-shoe cross country and dash, Dartmouth will be represented by Weston Blake '24 of Weston, Mass, and J. R. Doe '24; in the ski cross country by A. W. Edson '25, T. B. Farrel '26, A. E. Hadlock '24, and I. C. Conant '25; in ski proficiency, by C. C. Stewart '23, T. D. Frost '25 and A. W. Edson '25.

Only a partial list of ski jumpers have been announced. They include f. D. Frost, '25, and T. H. Griffith, '24.

The Green squad will be under a severe handicap as both Dick Bower, champion for two years, and Johnny Carleton, present Olympic participant, were graduated from college last June.

Dartmouth's hockey sextet will meet Technology Saturday afternoon in the second carnival athletic attraction, followed by the ski jumping contest.

Henry Hill, holder of the world's record ski jump of 229 feet, will give exhibitions with Ingvald Anderson Eastern U. S. amateur champion; Ralph Monsen, Canadian amateur champion, and Leif Sverdup, Norwegian expert.

Harvard's varsity quintet will oppose the Green five in Alumni Gymnasium Saturday evening as the concluding feature of the carnival week-end.

KOTSONAROS IS WINNER OVER ALBRIGHT

George Kotsonaros, the Greek heavyweight wrestler, made a new record for tossing an opponent when he downed Jack Albright in 3 seconds in the match at the Grand Opera House. He won in two straight falls and obtained the second in one hour and eight minutes.

In the preliminary between Nick Bozinis and Savage Tolios, the grapplers battled all over the mat for forty-five minutes to a draw. They scrapped in the middle of the mat and Referee Tommy Record lost part of his apparel.

Frank Dutcher was awarded the decision over Bill Ruddy in the opening bout. Dutcher secured a headlock which proved to be Rudy's downfall, in 31 minutes and 2 seconds.

HOLD CARNIVAL FOR DISABLED VETERANS

An outdoor carnival will be given Feb. 15 and 16 on the grounds of the Essex County Sanatarium, Middleton, for the benefit of the disabled veterans at the hospital.

Th program includes exhibitions by Charles Jewtraw, Olympic skating champion, now on his way to this country; Willie Frick and Leah Kruger. The famous dog team of H. Waldron of Berlin, N. H., will also be present, and hockey games will be staged among St. John's Preparatory School, Danvers High School, Essex Agricultural, Beverly High School, Boston College and Boston University. Music will be furnished by the band of the United Shoe Machinery Company. Floodlights will be installed by the General Electric Company. There will be afternoon and evening programs.

The committee in charge includes Dr. Roland S. Pettengill, superintendent of the hospital, as chairman; Mrs. Robert Lincoln O'Brien, Mrs. John Jacob Rogers, Martin L. Casey, Alfred Beaton and Miss Anna Dean.

FLAG BLUNDER MAY KILL LOAN TO GERMANY

Bankers Declare Breach Is Deplorable: Embassy Staff Now Bare

New York, Feb. 8.—The failure of the German government to participate in the national mourning for former President Woodrow Wilson has made more remote than ever the day that a loan can be successfully floated here for the purpose of helping place Germany to her feet, according to an international banker of great prominence here. Other financial houses supported his statement.

Not only will its effect be seen in the postponement of an eventual loan to the German government, but it will also retard seriously the efforts now being made by sympathizers with the German people to provide credits in the United States on which food shipments to Germany can be obtained, it was said.

The chances for the requested food loan of $70,000,000 are today thinner than they were even a year ago and that, it was recalled, was a period when a substantial part of the American public had been exercised over the collapse of the German paper mark, a fall which cost the savings of many Americans.

In banks which are said to be in touch with German affairs, the German branch was described as a deplorable incident, while in some cases it was intimated that a tempest was being made in a teapot.

The flag staff on the German Embassy at Washington is bare again, after its brief display of a half-masted flag during the Wilson funeral.

All the other embassies continued today to display their flags at half-staff.

100 MAROONED WHEN 'DUDE' TRAIN STALLS

More than a hundred men and women commuters from Nantasket were marooned for two and a half hours on the high trestle over Weir River at Hingham when the motor of the Nantasket-bound electric train, known as the "dude," froze.

After a delay of two and a half hours, a second engine arrived and towed the disabled train back to Nantasket Junction, where engines were changed and the train was permitted to proceed to its destination.

CHICKIE

The Story of a Boston Girl

Sweeter Than an Angel—Like a Prayer—Is Your Girl Like "Chickie"?

THE STORY OF "CHICKIE" TO DATE

"Chickie" Bryce is the only child in the family. Her sister having died when she was quite young, the parents lavished all their affection on "Chickie." As the story opens, "Chickie" is attending business college, and Arthur Sontag, one of her classmates, takes her to a dance. She confides to Mary Blake, her chum, that the avenues of romance are opening to her. "Chickie's" father is afraid of the pitfalls ahead for his daughter, but his fears are soothed by the girl and her mother. "Chickie" is thrilled to the core by the dance, and Arthur kisses her as he bids her good night. Mary and "Chickie" blandly discuss love and marriage. Mary says it's too sordid for her, but "Chickie" thinks it will be all kisses and "walking on the mountain tops with her lover by her side." However, "Chickie" is suddenly disillusioned about a year later, when Arthur announces that soon he is going to a far country. After that they see very little of each other. Then one day he passes her on the street and fails to notice her. "That day 'Chickie's' heart broke."

JANINA had received a wide, even a brilliant education. She spoke, beside her own tongue, French, German and Russian. She read extensively. Yet for all this, she remained intensely primitive and crude.

Janina was a free soul—modern to her finger tips. She boasted that her past went back to the Garden of Eden.

Sitting on the window ledge, smoking a cigarette, she was accustomed to say: "As you know, Eve was the first feminist, the first rebel, a scouter of tradition, a mocker of double standards. You will recall that the first lady of the land was

Witness of Father Dahme's Murder Watches From Behind Screen for a Clew

Bridgeport, Ct., Feb. 8.—Right Rev. John G. Murray, auxiliary bishop of the Hartford diocese, celebrated a pontifical high mass of requiem at St. Joseph's Church today for Rev. Father Hubert Dahme, the pastor, who was slain by an unknown man on the street last Monday.

One hundred police in civilian clothes scrutinized the crowds in attendance, while heavy guard was at the basement of the new church, hundreds standing in the street.

In the church behind a screen stood Ralph Esposito, boy eye witness of the shooting, watching with a detective those who were in the assemblage. Still without a clew to the murderer's identity the police believed some one might emotionally betray some knowledge of the murder.

The service passed without adding to the police knowledge of the crime.

Assisting Bishop Murray were a number of priests of the diocese and Rt. Rev. J. J. Fitzgerald of Waterbury. Rt. Burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Accountant Says Mrs. McCormick Hired Him to Aid Her Avoid Payments

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., with Edwin Krenn and Edward A. Dato, her partners in a real estate firm, are made defendants in a suit for $10,000 damages filed by Samuel Broker, consulting engineer and accountant, according to the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

According to the newspaper, the declaration states that last September Broker was employed by the defendants to devise a method to form a tax free organization in which Mrs. McCormick might invest $15,000,000 in stocks and bonds.

Broker conceived the idea of forming a "common law trust," which would obviate the necessity of paying federal taxes, and Mrs. McCormick contributed $5,232,000 and Krenn and Dato $1,500 each to the trust, the declaration alleges.

Broker claims he was to receive $100 a day for his services and in addition a sum commensurate with the amount of the tax saved. He received the $100 a day and $1,250 he says, but contends he should have been paid $4,250.

CHIEF HELD AS BOOZE RUNNER

Salisbury Police Head and 2 Others Accused of Plot by Federal Dry Agents

Lowell, Feb. 8.—Harold Congdon, chief of police of Salisbury; Patrolman William W. Fowler, and Sam Lasky, alleged bootlegger, today were charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and ordered to appear before United States Commissioner Walsh on Monday.

Warrants were issued for the appearance. The action grows out of a series of raids by Federal sleuths at Salisbury Beach January 24, when a gun battle between bootleggers and detectives was staged, and two men, one a detective, wounded.

Harold Congdon

Prohibition Agent Arthur England of Portland Me., was shot through the left hip. He is in the Anna Jacques Hospital, Newburyport. William Lambers, alleged Lawrence bootlegger, was shot in both legs and is at the same hospital.

Lambers was arrested, also four companions who are awaiting trial. They gave fictitious names and gave Lawrence as their residence, sleuths discovering later that most of them come from Haverhill.

The gun battle was staged as the thermometer registered zero at 1:30 o'clock in the morning. England and a squad of Portland sleuths went to Salisbury and negotiated to buy $5,000 worth of alcohol, posing as bootleggers.

They arranged for delivery, then, joined by Massachusetts agents, staged the raids.

A dozen men escaped as the gun fight was at its height. It was staged in a garage. Following it a hotel and several cottages were raided.

DENOUNCES DOCTRINE AS FALSE

Women Should Keep Out of Industry, Asserts Mrs. Slattery

"Imported female intellectuals, flaming with false doctrines of Church and State, are responsible for the growth in America of Soviet feminism—the most dangerous movement that has ever threatened the American home."

That, in the opinion of Mrs. Fran... A. Slattery, president of the ... of Catholic Women, promi... nent social worker and mother of ... children, constitutes the great... menace to the American home.

Mrs. Slattery adds two other ma... for the growing indifference of ... and the tendency of women ... seek interests in the sphere of ... activities.

Mrs. Slattery expressed these views in an interview.

THREE FACTORS.

"Flapperism," "Freudian cult," "the New Womanhood," and others of a like nature are not the real reasons for the decline of the standards in American family ... she said.

Undermining the decay of the tradition of the American home as an institution, said Mrs. Slattery, are three fundamental factors:

1. The importation of female intellectuals, flaming with false doctrines of Church and State, to spread their pernicious cults. The women's vote, which considers it an honor to maintain the latest radical activity and to adopt the latest religion of ... political ideas, are responsible for this.

SOVIET FEMINISM.

2. The growth of soviet feminism in the belief that woman is the equal of man in his chosen sphere of ... and industry, as ... of his share in industry and ...

MRS. FRANCES A. SLATTERY

President of League of Catholic women who attacks imported female intellectuals

tion stressing individual freedom, which is seeping into America from Europe, has much to do with the impending failure of the American home," Mrs. Slattery said.

WOMEN TAXED.

"The American woman, recently given the vote, is daily being tainted through contact with this new civilization

"Female intellectuals, leaders in the religious and political strife in Europe, are to blame for it all. They come here, are received by our leading citizens, and immediately gather a following.

"They are responsible for the growth of soviet feminism. The movement is one of the most dangerous that has ever menaced the American home.

"The belief that woman is the equal of man in his chosen sphere of politics and industry, is false. In the home she may be his superior but it is my belief that the sexes should keep to their respective spheres—the woman in the home and the man, in industry and government.

WINDS POISONED.

"I do not mean by that that women should be kept from voting. But politics should not become her profession. Her influence should remain politics.

"This philosophy of Soviet feminism is poisoning the minds of girls in colleges. These girls become imbued with the thought of greater political freedom for women and with thoughts of business and political careers. Thoughts of home life and family are forgotten and the fate of the future American family hangs in the balance.

"These tendencies are directly traceable to the imported radical views. False doctrines have directed the thoughts of the younger generation and their elders.

"What should be done about it? The remedy lies in the women voters."

MONKEYFACED MULE KILLS FREAK COW

New York, Feb. 9. — The mighty left hoof of Jack Johnson, monkey-faced mule, owned by Evans and Gordon, promoters of freak animal shows, killed Rosie, prize cow of the menagerie, quartered at Mineola for the Winter, on the grounds of the Queens and Nassau Agricultural Society.

Rosie, eight year-old cow, famous for her heart, was in her throat. Its palpitations plainly visible, was wandering aimlessly about when Jack Johnson began to lash out with his hoofs. One hoof caught the cow in the neck just above the heart.

OPPOSE 'DRY' CHECK' ON TRADE ALCOHOL

New York, Feb. 8.—Chemists today planned a protest to Washington over the government's announced intention of placing supervision of manufacture, sale and use of industrial alcohol in charge of the prohibition department, D. H. Kilfoil, in a statement in the official journal of the American Chemical Society, declared the change would ... legitimate industry in the same ... strategy with bootleggers.

CHIROPRACTORS ACCUSED IN GIRL'S DEATH

Child Found With Dislocated Neck, Suffering Intense Agony

C...ago, Feb 8 (I.N.S.)—A second effort to fix the blame for the death of Luella Waggett, 11, who died in convulsions from a dislocated vertebrae in her neck after treatment by three "doctors," was under way today by direction of Coroner Woltz.

The girl's father reported to police that she died after undergoing a series of manipulatory treatments by chiropractic students.

The coroner's jurors in the first investigation failed to fix the blame. They reported the girl died from a cervical dislocation. Dr. I. P. Pages, coroner's physician, found a vertebrae in the girl's neck dislocated.

Harry C. Fawcett, father of the girl, has filed suit for damages against the men who treated the girl prior to the calling of the physician in her death throes.

A student at the Medical College of Chiropractic, Homer C. Beck, was named as one of the students who had been assigned from a chiropractic "relief" to the girl's home when her father, on advice of a neighbor, took his daughter there.

Dr. A. K. Golden, a member of the faculty of the National College of Chiropractic, said Beck had attended school more than a year. He said it took eighteen months to turn out a finished chiropractor.

JOHNSON RIDICULES COOLIDGE CLAIMS

Washington, Feb. 8.—The Republican party must clean house or the people will do it for them, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for the Republican nomination for President, declared today.

The Senator characterized as "ridiculous and absurd" recent "mysterious and anonymous" assertions by Coolidge managers that the President already is virtually assured of more than enough convention votes to nominate.

"To follow the regular course of a Bourbon campaign—to claim all while putting every obstacle in the way of free expression or fair contest—would be sad. "If there were any such feeling of security as such certainty would indicate, there would be no need to send delegates in the South or deny primaries in the North, like in Minnesota."

5 EXECUTED AS NEW WARDEN GOES ON JOB

Texas Official Calls Crewsome Task "Plain Duty"; Predecessor Had Balked

Huntsville, Tex., Feb. 8.—Walter Monroe Miller, new warden of the Texas Penitentiary, was officiating at the electrocution of five negroes today the former warden R. F. Coleman, peacefully slept at his home. He resigned the post of warden last month when he learned he would have to act as executioner in all death sentences in Texas.

The State was searched for a successor, and Miller, former sheriff of Johnson County, finally was decided upon.

"It just couldn't be done, boys," former Warden Coleman told newspaper men.

"A warden can't be warden and killer, too. The penitentiary is a place to reform a man, not to kill him."

But with Warden Miller it was different.

"It's a case of duty with me," he said. "I have hanged several men while I was sheriff, and to touch the button or pull the switch of an electric chair means no more to me than pulling the lever of the gallows. At any rate, it's more human—the chair."

All five negroes were convicted of killing white men, one for wife murder, the fourth for killing a negro woman and the fifth for the death of a negro man.

GANDHI REGRETS HIS RELEASE FROM JAIL

Bombay, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Indian nationalist "Mahatma," Mohandas Gandhi, has written to the president of the national Congress, Mohamed Ali, expressing regret that the Bombay government released him from prison owing to illness, because he does not regard the illness of a prisoner as affording grounds for liberation.

Gandhi says his release has not brought him relief because he is overwhelmed with a sense of the responsibility which he feels he owes to disciples. "The Englishmen are friends; don't treat them as enemies," he writes. "The struggle against the system for which the British government stands is not against the Englishmen who are administering the system."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

If Back Hurts or Bothers You, Take Jad Salts

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and logged. When your kidneys get sluggish and clogged you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's waste or you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have a dull cold.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Half Million Is Rushed in Plane to Aid of Bank in Trouble

Washington, Feb. 8.—Half a million dollars was rushed through the air by the Federal Reserve Board to the relief of a bank in one of the Southwestern States which, though entirely solvent, was experiencing a heavy run and did not have sufficient cash.

The story of the first shipment of so much currency by airplane was told by Governor Board members, but they declined to name the bank involved, fearing publicity on the run might hurt it.

The $500,000 was loaded into the plane and, although the bank was about 500 miles away, it had the money the same day.

DELIVERY PRICE KEEPS LIVING COST HIGH

Domestic Bureau Finds Producing Employs Only 29 Per Cent. of People

Washington, Feb. 8 (I.N.S.)—A fight started against the cost of living has been launched by the Department of Commerce.

Elimination of the "spread" between the producers' cost and the consumers' price, the waste in distribution and reduction of cost of distribution is the object of the campaign, Henry H. Morse of the newly-organized Bureau of Domestic Commerce, announced today.

Investigation discloses that 29 per cent. of the people of the United States working for wages or profits are actually engaged in producing raw materials. Seventy-one per cent. are performing some service in connection with the distribution and marketing of the products of these raw materials.

"Whether it is economically sound that 29 per cent of the workers should engage in production, while the much larger percentage should engage in distribution, we do not know," said Morse. "The solution may be a big factor in improvement of business and cost to the consumers' benefit."

It was revealed in one isolated case a turkey was sold at retail for 16 cents a pound while the ultimate consumer paid 48 cents a pound."

"The remedy should come from the industries themselves," Morse said. "The real trouble must be discovered. Manufacturers, wholesalers or retailer cannot stand alone—each is a link in the chain which must cooperate with the government to get at this waste and cost in distribution."

OBREGON PLANS FINAL BATTLE WITH REBELS

Troops Being Concentrated Near Tierra Blanca for Decisive Clash in Vera Cruz

Mexico City, Feb. 8 (AP)—Tierra Blanca, State of Vera Cruz, it is believed in official circles, will be the scene of the last important battle in the Federal campaign against the city of Vera Cruz, which has been in the hands of the rebels since the outbreak of the revolt on.

The rebels are reported concentrating at Tierra Blanca.

The Federal march against Vera Cruz, Federal officers say, is being delayed owing partly to the destruction of a bridge at Atoyac and to a desire on the part of General Martinez to avoid the danger of a rebel attack on his rear. For this purpose he has dispatched part of his army to Tierra Blanca.

General Urbalejo's cavalry is reported advancing from Vera Cruz, and the War Department is awaiting announcement from him that he has occupied the port.

The whereabouts of General Adolfo de la Huerta, who with other rebel leaders left Vera Cruz via steamer early this week, still are unknown here.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair USE MULSIFIED.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes.

IN THE SOUTH, Feb. 8.—They do keep one on the move here. So much so, that it isn't easy to find time to write. I've just been whisked through various parts of south Florida, along the Gulf of Mexico, have visited an orange grove, and sampled it's products, have investigated the quaintest of all industries, sponge fishing, at Tarpon Springs—all in one day.

About sponge fishing—and a tragic drama connected therewith—I hope to write again.

Meanwhile, the only thing I can do to have this column delivered on time, is to run in the Tampa Morning Tribune's report of a talk I was invited to make to a gathering of editors from all parts of Florida, guests of the Rotary Club of Tampa.

The report in part follows:

"Florida has all the advantages that California has—climate, agricultural, commercial and industrial resources and possibilities — but Florida has not learned half so well as California how to 'sell' herself," declared B. C. Forbes, eminent financial writer, in his address before Florida newspaper men, Tuesday noon, as their guests at the Rotary Press breakfast at the Tampa Bay Hotel.

"Mr. Forbes was the principal speaker of the occasion. He was introduced by C. C. Nott, President of the Tampa Rotary Club, and was given an enthusiastic ovation.

"Asserting that Florida possessed within herself wonderful developments are in the first stage of realization, Mr. Forbes urged the importance of a stronger spirit of co-operation among people of the State and the coming together of all sections in a general advertising campaign, as one of the foremost necessities to speedily bringing about the greatest measure of growth.

"Florida is going through the same condition that California experienced a few years ago. There was a time when North and South California were advertised as distinctly separate sections. But within recent years the people of the State have come together to advertise California, as a State,' he said.

"People who live in New York for instance, hear a great deal about California, its climate, its natural beauties and other advantages, but they only occasionally hear of this or that play city. This is not the case in Florida, is advertised and they seldom hear of Florida, as a whole.

"Californians are not only advertising California as a State, but it is my understanding that they are still further in the near future or two and will combine with other States in advertising the Pacific Coast, the principle that if they can get a middle-westerner or easterner to visit the Pacific Coast, he will call in Alaska.

"I offer you Florida as a big suggestion for your own home town and section, and not only for these, but for Florida as a whole. There is no concerted effort to advertise Florida. Florida. The only attempt that I have heard of along this line is that of Jefferson Thomas, of Jacksonville, he declared.

"Touching on the need of greater co-operation between the various sections of Florida, the speaker expressed the opinion that a number of the State would have been able to demand better prices for their agricultural and horticultural products, if co-operative markets had been more nearly perfected.

"Briefly touching on the general, able conditions [illegible] Mr. Forbes expressed the opinion that the time was coming when in the next year or two, when vegetables and [illegible] shippers could lay their case before the railroads and secure a lowering of rates.

"The growth of Tampa has been such, I am told, as that of Los Angeles. The president of a large industrial enterprises in that city went to Detroit to get a man to head a department of his business. He was told that he could not get a man in Detroit to provide improvements for Los Angeles. The business man said that he would go to Los Angeles and head of a great financial interest.

"By this way, what is the population of Los Angeles" queried the head of the financial concern.

"Well, really, I don't know exactly, but I suppose it is [illegible] people in Los Angeles in [illegible]

That," said Mr. Forbes, "expresses one of Tampa. What I want to see next year I [illegible] Tampa a population of 100,000 people. I see I haven't been here [illegible]

CAST IRON PIPE IS A STRONG FEATURE

New York stock market prices started to sag at the opening today on a big initial volume of realizing sales. The trading soon turned dull. Some losses improved and the market became irregular.

U S Cast Iron Pipe was a strong feature on over 5 points.

There were point or more setbacks for Consolidated Tabulating and General Electric. Gains of a point or more showed for Davison, U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

Oils were again in supply as a result of the federal investigation of gasoline prices and higher crude production and imports. Royal Dutch dropping 1¾, and Phillips Petroleum, Pacific, Houston and Standard Oil of New Jersey sagging about a point each.

Heaviness also was noted in National Supply. Firestone Rubber first preferred and Mack Truck, off 1 to 2 points.

There were a few strong spots, notably International Harvester, Adams Express and White Eagle Oil, all up a point or so.

In the early afternoon good buying was noted in such issues as Otis Elevator, which rose 2½ points, to a new 1924 top; International Paper, Amer. Linseed, Underwood, Sloss Sheffield Steel and Lorillard. Tobacco all up a point or more.

Renewed selling broke out in American Woolen and General Electric, which lost 1½ points and 1 point respectively. Rails offered stubborn resistance to selling pressure. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

In Boston Exchange trading Commonwealth Power the latest new arrival on the local board, was up more than 3 points. American Woolen common lowered over a point. Mexican Investment rose 7 at its best. Wolverine lifted around a point to a new high.

Foreign Bonds Heavy in Irregular Market

New York trading in bonds spread over a broad list, but irregular tendencies prevailed.

Heaviness in fired dealings in French government and municipal bonds and Mexican government obligations were noted, despite announcement that first installments on the 1924 bond interest payments had been received.

High grade railroad issues were steady, but little was doing in rails, except in parts of the list where special developments were in progress. Pere Marquette first preferred sold at the highest price since 1913, when it sold at 75.

Every Driver an Escort

BOSTONIANS DEPEND ON

Checker Taxi

and its

trustworthy men for the backbone of the City's taxicab service

This preference is shown to Checker Taxi because it has financial as well as moral responsibility.

Checker Taxi has grown to be the fifth largest Taxi Company in the Country and the largest by far in New England.

Only a short time ago the Taxi business was in disrepute, the rates were high and equipment bad. Checker changed conditions. Checker rates are as low as in the other big metropolitan cities.

Much of the success of Checker Taxi is due to the fact that the employes are stockholders in the corporation and they naturally feel the keen interest of ownership rather than the passive interest of mere salaried employes.

Their attitude towards the public is that of the merchant who must create goodwill. They protect the Company's interests and property because they are part of it. They observe the law and traffic regulations because they are anxious that their business enterprise shall stand well in the community.

All this is the result of a deliberately thought out plan of operation. Our general welfare plans include free life insurance, sick benefits ($14.00 weekly for six months) and free medical and legal advice. We have made our employes contented and happy, not because we are soft hearted, professional philanthropists, but because it is good business sense, and pays far better than old methods.

We have made every effort to conduct this corporation with honesty and decency, and to play square with the public, with our workers and our stockholders.

Our city-wide service with a standard of equipment, "Immaculately clean, such as has never before been known in Boston, is at your disposal 24 hours of the day—just call Back Bay Ten Thousand.

"CHICKIE"

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

By ELENORE MEHERIN

ejected from Paradise for disorderly conduct. All honor to Eve! Fruit hung in the Garden; she ate it. And I likewise, Mother Eve!"

This was one of her favorite speeches—

Chickie, bursting with vivid curiosity, told all this to Mary, adding many a "Janina says this; Janina says that; Janina was telling us——"

Mary drank in this wisdom hungrily. They weighed, with hushed, excited wonderment, the worth of Janina's philosophy. They discussed this matter of popularity with a hot intensity as though it were the one purpose for which they were born. As financiers reckon the worth of other men by their money pile, Mary and Chickie classed their associates according to the number and brilliance of their masculine followers.

Once Chickie even told Jimmy all about Janina. Jimmy came over most every night. Often he would go out to the kitchen and lift the covers off the pots. If he liked what little Janina was cooking better than the dinner waiting on his mother's stove, he would get a knife and fork and sit down to the table with them. Jonathan thought the world of Jimmy.

Now that Chickie was working, he used to wait for her at the corner. They walked up the block together.

This night Chickie had her gold hair drawn into a big psyche on the top of her head with two ridiculous Chinese pins stuck in like green swords.

She did it to be fancy, she told Jonathan when he roared at her.

It made her small, sweet chin very pointed—her eyes enormous. Jimmy sat on the wicker davenport staring at her.

Poor and Proud

Chickie streched her neck slowly. "Aren't I the most gorgeous looking girl on the earth, Jimmy darling?"

"Sure you are! You always were!"

"And I so poor and proud and pure. I'm like to die of loneliness!"

Jimmy's eyes narrowed. Then he laughed. "Well, where'd you get that——"

Chickie shrugged. "Well—Janina knows——"

All unsuspecting she breezed forth with Janina's hard wisdom—even let him one of Janina's caustic formulas for winning and holding the truant male in leash.

When she began, he teased her, but as she went on Jimmy's face hardened. "Look here, Chickie you don't want to listen to that——"

"But Jimmy a girl has as much right to——"

Chickie laughed. "Of course I suppose you've never kissed a girl—oh——"

He caught her by the shoulders. His eyes were all light and black. "Look here, Chickie, well, let me tell you, the man doesn't live that's worth your even thinking things like this——"

Chickie laughed because his mouth trembled and got white. She ran her fingers through his hair, whispering "Darling old Jimmy," as though she were her grandfather, "darling old Jimmy—don't you worry——"

The next afternoon she worked late. Harry Lewis, the nice, mild looking fellow, the head of her department, stopped at her desk. "Say, at it, Miss Bryce? Say—been to the Orpheum this week? Suppose we go Saturday?"

"Why—" Chickie hesitated—"Oh, all right——"

She was breathing quick with excitement when she went to the dressing room.

She didn't see Janina until Janina said: "Oh, so Harry's fallen! Good luck, baby! You're on your way, now!"

In Janina's eyes was a little spark of contempt. It made Chickie at once uneasy and defiant. In the street she saw she found Janina glowering at her with the same quiet exultance. She wondered. "What is Janina thinking?"

Saturday at noon Janina said: "Have a date this——"

"Always do!" Chickie called back flippantly.

But she was on edge. She said to Mary: "I wish I wasn't going."

"Why?"

"Don't know."

"Don't get stage-fright. You may fall in love with him."

"Never!"

Anyway it isn't hurt to go out with him just once.

"No. Yet Chickie's reluctance grew. She kept making excuses to herself. Jonathan nervous as to how to break about it—"

"Look here Chickie, I want you to——"

"What does Janina think such a thing Jonathan"—"Why should I go?"

"Well you might want to go somewhere and dance. And that's all right, with Jimmy and with be you know. Not with those other young men."

Chickie began to cry. Jonathan——"

"Why do I mind—was saying things——"

Harry Lewis, head of her department, stopped at her desk

She scarcely spoke to Harry Lewis as they drove downtown. But in the theatre she stole sharp glances at his mild, pleasant face. caught a friendly smile in his eyes.

What a little fool she was! As though a man would act as harmless as ever anything could be! Oh Janina would laugh if she knew how stiff and nervous Chickie had been!

She turned red and sparkling. She sighed with admiration over the gowns of the actress and——. And soon she felt——

But when the show was over and——took her arm saying pressingly——

"Look here, Chickie——Suppose we take a little ride to Nantasket. It's——that you might like a——"

She said it so innocently, so——and very flushed. Oh no!

He seemed pleased. She made it worse by adding. "Oh I didn't mean——I like that. Why it's quite late——"

He remained stiffly silent——

In pure——Chickie laughed. Her——reminded. She laughed again——

"Oh, well, Mr. Lewis don't be so huffy! You see——like this. I'm father's only child. He's a queer old fellow. He'll sit up waiting for——

And, of course, I didn't dream we were going to be so awfully——and ask me to Nantasket so I promised to come home early and if I don't show up he'll come up the——and the police and the Old Ladies' Home——"

MEDBURY SAYS---

By John P. Medbury

SENATOR COPELAND of New York wants to pass a law making a revolver cost a hundred bucks and bullets a dollar apiece. This is a great idea, only it will heap a lot of hardships on hold-up men.

IF this new law goes into effect it will cost a thug ninety cents more to kill you than it does now.

AND when a citizen gets shot it doesn't help him any to know that the bullet cost a dollar instead of a dime.

THIS only way the highwayman will be able to make any money is to hold up more people

OF course if bullets get too expensive the public will start going back to gas pipes and sand bags.

WE'VE got so many gentlemen burglars now that it's hard for them to carry a sandbag in their evening clothes.

BUT with a revolver nobody knows they've got it except the guy who gets shot.

MOST pedestrians would rather be killed with a gasoline because it looks much nicer than a bullet hole.

SANDBAGS are fine in the Winter, but in the Summer time they spoil your straw hat.

WHEN a woman wants to kill her husband she doesn't care what it costs.

ONCE a woman gets in this state of mind she doesn't stop to think about the expense

SHE'LL figure it won't hurt to be extravagant just once.

SENATOR COPELAND deserves a lot of credit for his plan, but wherever a wife makes up her mind to get rid of her husband, she'll do it even if she has to get a divorce

ABOUT YOUR BEAUTY

By Maria Jeritza

Famous Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company

DO you know that there is a tree allied to the rose family which is capable of rendering valuable aid to your beauty?

The blossom of the tree is delicately lovely, yet its blossom is not its precious contribution. Nor is the fruit valuable from the point of view of woman's beauty, but rather the stone of the fruit. For the pit of the fruit of this tree is the almond we eat.

Modern scientists assure us that we should give nuts an important place in our diet, since they are rich in protein, carbohydrates, fats and salts of iron and lime. Certainly they are delicious nourishing and satisfying. And the most delicious of all nuts in the estimation of many persons, is the almond.

Try almonds roasted, salted, in salads, confections and even as a substitute now and then for meat. They are fattening, hence beautifying. They will help to strengthen and whiten your teeth. Substitute almonds for candy for awhile and see whether you do not benefit by the change.

But the food value of almonds is not the chief reason for their importance to the woman in quest of beauty, but rather their cosmetic value as an ingredient in cold creams, astringents and innumerable lotions that are soothing, nourishing and smoothing to the skin.

Here, for instance, is a skin food that is softening and refreshing

Cocoa butter, 32 grams; spermaceti 32 grams, oil of sweet almonds, 160 grams; white wax, 16 grams.

Blend the solids together in a dish immersed in a pan of hot water, then gently stir in the almond oil.

Although Winter is still with us, now and then comes a hint of Spring in a balmy south wind or the more intense sunlight of longer days. It is possible that this wild sunshine may "rush the Spring season" by leaving a freckle or two on your nose. In that case you might try the following lotion:

Citrine ointment, one dram; oil of almonds, one dram; spermaceti ointment, six drams; attar of roses, three drops.

Shake the bottle well before you apply this lotion. Apply it freely but do not leave it on too long—never over night. You might remove it with cold cream. It may not banish your freckles but it will tend to bleach them and that is about all one can do for freckles.

Here is another astringent—a cream that should soften and whiten your skin:

Almond milk from fifty crushed almonds, rosewater, one pint

This cream, also, like all astringents, should not be left on the skin too long

Here is a final almond oil for scalp—this time for your scalp.

Oil of sweet almonds, forty-five grams; essence of rosemary, forty-five grams; oil of mace, one-half

Twelve hours before your shampoo rub this scalp food into the roots of your hair.

ADVICE TO LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

Why Isn't She Popular?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-four, and considered good looking, educated and clever. I am a stylish dresser because I can afford to dress well. I hold the position of secretary, and I have many girl friends. But the trouble is this: I cannot seem to interest a young man sufficiently to want to be serious with me. I go out a great deal to dances with girls and I meet many young men. They tell me I am interesting and clever.

This acquaintances spend the evening with me, take me home, ask for my phone number, and never hear from them again. Why is it?

"ALMOST AN OLD MAID."

PERHAPS your trouble lies in the fact that you lay so much stress on how "interesting" you are. A charming mentality is not always merely a clever one, but may be the lovable, warm, generous type which perhaps you fail to attain by your attitude when you say you are not the type of girl who can form a friendship unless it is mutual. If you are generous and unselfconscious, you will like folks so well that you won't stop to weigh and measure, and this spontaneous kindness may go far more to make you popular than all the scintillating cleverness which is often so cold.

There is another point to keep in mind. Often people meet at dances, are well impressed, mean to follow up the acquaintance, but get swept apart by the manifold interests of a big city. So don't feel like a social failure. But work to be so warmly friendly that you can conquer social inertia and the confusion which makes folks neglect the acquaintances they mean to follow up and accidentally drift away from.

Love vs. Poverty

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Two years ago, when eighteen, I met a man of twenty-three. He was not wealthy, and our friendship continued for a year. He realized he loved me. We then had a talk, in which he said poverty and love would not harmonize, so we parted. During last year I became engaged to another man, who, in my parents' opinion, is a fine person. Last month I met the first man accidentally, and discovered I couldn't continue with the other. The engagement was broken, but that is all.

The first man knows I am free again, but still he insists it would be cowardly for him to make me suffer by going through hardships. Is there anything a girl with a little pride can do to make him see things in a different light.

JOY

THE first man appears to care for you tenderly and unselfishly. The devotion of such a man is worth working and waiting for. Unless he is in lazy and doesn't want to make an earnest struggle, there is no reason why his present financial condition need be anything but temporary. Make him understand that you believe in him and his future, and try to inspire him with faith in himself. Tact and honest devotion will without too much stress on that fatal thing, pride, will convince him that you see his future promise and are proud to wait and work toward it with him. You are both so young that it is logical to believe a few years of waiting will be rewarded. But your faith in and difficulty in a way as you inspire him with your faith in him. That is no easy thing to do, but you can do it

Listen Before You Buy

During the present period of freaky radio conditions I have noticed many peculiar "wrinkles" in the air, but a "bump" in the wave of KDKA, East Pittsburgh, the other night, gave me the hardest jolt. I had their program perfectly on the regular 326 meter wave, but also found them coming in nearly as well and 216 meters. I also found it impossible to tune them out on the high wave, although no difficulty in that respect existed on the regular wave length.

"Enjoyed your talk very much," says a telegram today to Charles L. Mooney, Boston American telegrapher, who spoke from WNAC last Tuesday. "Am taking your advice about don't write, telegraph." The telegram was sent collect, however, and Charley is beginning to wonder if his advice was perhaps ill-timed.

I notice announcers at several stations broadcasting dance music have yielded to the popular demand and now "come in" long enough to give their station call letters between numbers being played in groups. Then after the group is finished, they usually give full particulars, including the names of the songs just played.

RADIO QUERIES

Can you tell me what station was broadcasting a late program of dance music at 12:45 on February 3? I have not think it was WOO.

This morning I received a Porto Rican station at about 1235. I think it was WKAU or WKKU. Please tell me which of these is correct.

Probably WKAQ at San Juan, Porto Rico.

In building the Super, should the grid return be connected with the positive or negative of the filament leads?

J. S. L.

The three amplifier tubes should have the grid return to the negative, and the detector to the positive side of the filament.

UNITED FRUIT SEEKS TO END INTERFERENCE

Will Alter Antenna to Prevent "Hump" on 600 and 700-Wave Lengths

The antenna used by WBF, the station of the United Fruit Co. at Boston, will be radically altered soon in an attempt to prevent the harmonic or "hump" in its 600 and 700 meter waves which interfere with broadcasting in Boston.

This was announced by George S. Davis, general manager of the United Fruit, who has been following the reports of the Boston American monitor operator.

It is not known yet how effective the change in antenna will be in eliminating the harmonic, but it will at least be an experiment. It also indicates the effort of the United Fruit Co. to prevent interference with broadcasting.

Conditions for long distance reception continued only fair last night. There seems, however, to be a slow but continued improvement in progress.

Interference Log for February 7:

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio stations broadcasting throughout the entire country, with the exception of a slight portion of the extreme North-west, probably will be heard distinctly in Boston and vicinity tonight.

This is due to the high barometric pressure that extends over the entire country, except in the extreme Northwest.

A small want advertisement in the American will bring the customer for that vacant room.

An ad-taker will help you

I have had hard luck and been out of work nearly all Winter. I wonder if some man better off than I am at present could give me a warm overcoat and suit and some shoes to enable me to make a fit appearance going around for work. I really am wearing Summer clothes. I wear about 33 size suit and 7 or 7½ shoes.

Many thanks. You have been sent the address of Mrs. C., who works for six dollars a week to feed five. There is not much left to buy sadly needed clothes.

If Electric Power Were Developed for the People

It Could Do All of These Things and Many More

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

The Public Ownership League of America, address No. 127 North Dearborn street, Chicago, urges development of electric power throughout the United States by the people themselves, FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE PEOPLE.

You may ask, with good reason, UNFORTUNATELY, what's the use of taking things over for the people. The people carry it along for awhile, as they did the naval reserve oil lands? Then you get the right kind of crooks in the right PLACE and they sell the people out.

That happens sometimes, it's true, but it need not ALWAYS happen. And government ownership must go slowly, with mistakes and failures like everything else.

The people ought to own and use for themselves the waterpower which belongs to the people, if anything ever DID belong to the people.

The electric force produced by waterfalls is the work of the sun, drawing water up from the ocean, scattering it from the clouds, dropping it in rain, to form brooks, rivers and cataracts on its way back to the ocean.

If the people haven't the right to harness those cataracts for their own good, then they have no rights.

There are not a few that will tell you that they really HAVE no rights, and that the people are put here in order to be exploited by the intelligent minority.

Meanwhile, here are some of the things that according to the Public Ownership League of America, COULD be done if the people would keep control of electric power and form a "superpower system."

The question, "What GOOD would it do?" is answered by the Public Ownership League as follows:

WHAT IT WILL DO

Manufacture and deliver electric service at cost.

Reduce the cost to one-half, perhaps a third, of what the private companies must charge to make their profits and dividends.

Make electricity cheaper than coal, gas, oil or wood, and thus bring it within the reach of all.

Put electric light and power into every home in America—in the country as well as town.

Lessen the burden and toil of the housekeeper and home, making it possible to light, cook, wash, clean, iron, sew, pump, grind, heat and cool by electric power much more efficiently than otherwise, in much less time and with less than half the physical toil.

Electrify the industries of the nation, multiplying their productive powers and developing hundreds of new industries that were never possible before.

Electrify the railroads and thereby double and perhaps treble their carrying capacity and reduce the cost of transportation.

Electrify the farms of America, lighten the heavy burden of the farmer's wife, brighten the home, light the barn, pump water, grind corn, chop feed, thresh, milk churn and do other kinds of farm work, for the farmer can secure electric current for 35 cents a day that would equal the labor power of five men and a four-horse team.

Electrify the cities and eliminate most, if not all, of their coal, gas, smoke, soot and ashes.

Stop destructive floods.

Irrigate and reclaim millions of acres of arid lands where returned soldiers and citizens generally may find employment and build homes.

Aid navigation.

Expand, enlarge and ennoble the industrial, agricultural and domestic life of the nation and open a new era of general prosperity.

An Unwise Transaction

Trustees Should Not Speculate in Stocks

We are very glad to note that the investigating committee has reported that the Trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway made no profit out of speculation in stock. We never suspected they had made any profit. They do not strike us as the kind of men who would do it.

On the other hand, it was an unwise transaction. For public servants there is an Eleventh Commandment which must be given considerable heed. Caesar laid it down concerning his wife when he said that Caesar's wife must not only be above actual wrong, but must be above suspicion.

Government in a great democracy is largely a question of psychology. The same laws work entirely differently when operated by two peoples of entirely different psychology, even though their economic condition may be much alike.

Every occurrence like the oil scandal which impairs the faith of the people in their government and in Big Business creates a psychology which is very unfavorable to a democratic form of government. It makes people suspicious generally of their public servants and tends to destroy their faith in the practicality of their form of government. This makes up the difference in the state of mind between the people whose government no usurper or body of usurpers would attempt to overthrow and the people whose government a usurper could easily overthrow.

It is for this reason that public servants should rarely attempt to make speculative gains in the public interest. The law which regulates the character of investments by trustees should always apply to the conduct of public servants. They must be safe rather than brilliant.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

FROM my window I have just watched young William Haynes Rutherford, aged ten, being led home in disgrace. Bill isn't very big, but every inch of him is Mad.

"She hit me first!" he snarls at the stern female parent who is conducting him to his doom.

"That makes no difference," says the voice of Fate. "She is your little sister and——"

"She ain't so little!" roars Bill. "She's most's big as me. And she busted me right in the eye."

At this point the door closes on William and I hear no more of the conversation. But from the yelps of anguish which proceed, I gather that William is being given a lesson in chivalry which he won't speedily forget.

In defiance of all social tradition, I'm going to cast my vote with Bill. I, too, have no use for this "little sister" plea. If little sister is strong and swift enough to "bust" little brother in the eye, she is strong and swift enough to get "busted" in return. If punishment for the deed is to be administered at all, sister should get hers as well as brother, and there should be no sex discrimination.

Much of the injustice and discord between men and women is based on this feminine exemption from punishment in youth. Rare, indeed, is the family where little sister doesn't have a snap. She may, and usually does, nag her brothers into a fury. She may spy and snoop and tell tales and impose on them outrageously. But do they dare haul off and hand her the healthy wallop they would deal a boy of their own age and size?

I'll say they don't. The very suggestion of such an act would bring the parental thunders about their ears. Which is hard on the brothers and even harder on little sister, for she grows up without that essential training in fair play which makes for real power in adult life.

Why are men more skilled than women in their handling of other human beings? Why are their opinions more esteemed and their powers more respected? Because they are naturally more intelligent and powerful? No, indeed. Their poise and strength are not a matter of natural endowment, but has been acquired through the painful process of shin-kicking and jaw-pokings. Good sportsmanship, grit, fairness and keenness are literally punched into a boy by his companions.

He learns fair play via a bloody nose. He acquires generosity with a black eye and tolerance with a stubbed toe. Such is the rough school of boyhood, and it produces the goods. But such schooling is denied little sister. What little boy would dare slap a little girl for bragging and fibbing, for stinginess or stuckupness, or squealing on the gang? It simply isn't done.

So the little girl grows to maturity feeling that the things which are wrong for little boys are perfectly right for little girls, simply because they are little girls. Indeed she is quite sure that little girls have an entirely different emotional equipment from little boys; that they are more sensitive and intuitive and fitted for finer destinies. And when a Mere Husband or Horrid Employer calls her to account for some lapse in the ordinary code of human conduct, she is outraged. Straightway she jumps her job. A shin kicked in time would save many a divorce suit.

Help Badly Needed

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if there is some one who will help me and my little ones, who need clothes very much. I have just been brought home from the hospital, where I have been since Christmas. The doctor said it will be a year before I am able to do anything. I have three little girls, and two boys, ages four and ten, who need some warm clothes. My husband is dead. I was able to work up till I was sick, but now I don't know how we will get along. I will be pleased with anything and some house dresses for myself, size 38. MRS. E. L.

Is a Good Mother

Editor Helping Hand:

My mother, my two sisters and myself life in a three-room basement under a large tenement house. This city has helped us a little, but not now. All we have is what my mother can earn, and she is not at all well. She keeps us in school and to church every Sunday, and is a good mother, but it is hard for her to keep us dressed. My father went away a long time ago, so we have no money from anybody but mother. I am twelve and my sisters are seven and five years old. FRANCES.

Just Fit the Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

I received a lovely box of baby clothes from Mrs. J. S. of Dorchester and want to thank her very much for it. Everything was lovely, just the baby's fit. She has made me very happy and may God reward her for her kindness to me. I also want to thank the other kind friend, Mrs. C. B. C., of Haverhill. I am so pleased over the box she has sent

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THIS STRANGE WORLD

By Dr. Frank Crane

DID you ever notice how things seem to come? Most of your happiness you did not get; it was handed to you; it just happened in and sat down when you were not looking for it. The thing you sweated and planned and yearned to possess you missed. Your actual gains are all by-products of your will.

Naturally, all the calamities, defeats and sicknesses came; nobody ever went after such things.

So your successes and failures, your big griefs and joys, seem just to move in on you. Indeed, the thing we get (and brag of, lying, as if it were by our own effort) is so different from the thing we started for that life often seems ludicrous. We have a feeling that destiny is amusing itself with us. And if we have sense we can take a joke and enjoy the game.

For as to this great, disposing will that orders events without reference to us, we can call it luck; then we are gamblers and life is a huge poker game. There have been those who thus have adjusted themselves to destiny, from the ancient philosopher who held that the universe is "a fortuitous concourse of atoms" down to the last young jackass who held a full house against your four perfectly good deuces.

Again, we can take the point of view that the universe is an immense machine, as Carlyle says, "an enormous, immeasurable steam engine, rolling on in its dead indifference, to grind me limb from limb." So thinking, we can plant ourselves grimly against it, even as it is grim against us. Then we are stoics. There is a kind of Indian satisfaction in thus presenting a stone face to destiny. I have nothing to say against it. As Abraham Lincoln remarked: "I should think that for those who like that sort of thing that is about the sort of thing they would like."

Once more, we can call ourselves scientific, patter learnedly about the reign of law and the religion of science, and fondly imagine that because all things must happen according to law, which is quite true, therefore we know what the laws are (which is not true in the least).

And lastly, we can become as little children, which action I make bold to recommend to the reader. We can take things as they come, weep when it [illegible] hurt and laugh when they please us. We can try our best, and be as glad with the thing that comes as with the thing we tried for. We can be scientific and yet realize that all our science is but a floating speck in nescience. We can put away superstition as a species of fruitless insanity. We can decline stoicism because the end thereof, a hard heart, is not worth while. We can reject the machine and the poker game theories of the universe because they deaden our finer senses.

And we can, as little children, and after the manner of the good women and noble men for the last thousand years or so, look at the universe with wonder, and at the power behind it with love and trust, and say those wisest words ever directed to the Infinite: "Our Father, which art in Heaven, Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done!"

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON TRAINING MICE

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

THE reduction of man to an automatic machine goes on quite rapidly in some of the laboratories.

Here is Professor Ivan P. Pawlow, of Petrograd, with some new researches on "conditioned reflexes," whose results are, at any rate, very curious and interesting. First let us understand what a "conditioned reflex" is.

Anything in the world around us that produces a reaction in the nervous system, which in turn causes certain activities in the organism, is called a "stimulator." The nervous response to the stimulus is called a "reflex."

Instincts are more complex reflexes. They are "inborn associations with definite stimulators," and "correspond to the activities of the organism." Upon this basis, affirms Professor Pawlow, "are built the highest nervous activities."

All that seems pretty clear. Now, in addition to these regular stimulators, some one previously indifferent agent in the outer world may happen to coincide in time with the action of an instinct, "and if the action is repeated many times then this agent, formerly indifferent, begins to stimulate the instinct." . . .

I have no space to go into all of Professor Pawlow's very interesting presentation, but we must glance at his statement that his latest experiments (not yet finished) show that "the conditioned reflexes, i.e., the highest nervous activity, are inherited." This is how he proves it:

He trained white mice to run to their feeding place on the ringing of bells. To do that he had the bells ring in connection with the natural stimulus produced by the smell, sight, or other sense recognition, of the presence of food. Then he tried to teach the mice to run for food at the bell signal alone.

With the first generation of mice 300 lessons were required before the conditioned reflex depending upon the ringing of the bells had become established. The second generation required only 100 lessons; the third generation only 30 lessons, and the fourth only ten!

"The last generation which I saw before leaving Petrograd," said Professor Pawlow, while lecturing in this country last Summer, "learned the lesson after five lessons. The sixth generation will be tested after my return I think it very probable that after some time a new generation of mice will run to the feeding place on hearing the bell with no previous lesson."

The progression toward perfection of Professor Pawlow's four-footed little pupils was certainly astonishingly regular—not a backsliding generation in the whole series, and the result, as far it goes, would seem to settle affirmatively the question whether acquired characters can be transmitted to the offspring.

But now for the next step. Similar experiments with sound, Professor Pawlow says, were made on men with analogous results. "My firm belief," he continues, "is that the best way to a knowledge of the mechanism and the laws of our subjective world lies in the direction of the pure physiology of the hemispheres" (Hemispheres of the brain, of course).

In other words, as it seems, Professor Pawlow proposes to deal with man only as a reflex machine. Indeed, he expressly says that in his studies and experiments for the last twenty years (made on the highest nervous activities of the dog), he has proceeded only on strictly physiological grounds. "I never use any psychological conceptions or terms."

There is no objection to a scientific investigator limiting his field in that way. But is it certain that in passing from mice and dogs to men, psychology, in the root sense of the word (psyche, soul, mind) can safely be totally shut out from view?"
